70 DEATHS WHEN SHIP TOOK FIRE

SEVENTY persons, including women and children, are missing, feared killed, from the British ship, Empire Patrol (3,330 tons), which caught fire, and had to be abandoned, 46 miles north-east of Port Said when repatriating 562 Greek refugees, a Reuter telegram from Cairo stated last night.

The search for survivors continued throughout Saturday night, with British naval vessels illuminating the scene with searchlights and R.A.F. bombers dropping relays of flares.

When the fire swept through the Empire Patrol more than 200 children were on board. Survivors from the crew say there was panic after the fire broke out, and women and children had to be forcibly lowered from the blazing ship into the rescue boats. The lowering gear of one lifeboat, in which there were about 50 people, is reported to have jammed. When the ropes were cut the boat crashed down into a choppy sea, and a stiff wind added to the difficulties of rescue.

The majority of the survivors were landed at Port Said late yesterday afternoon.

RESCUE WORK

The ship was less than five hours out from Port Said when fire was discovered in the hospital, amidships. An S.O.S. was immediately sent and plans were made to abandon ship.

When the S.O.S. was received at British naval headquarters at Port Said rescue work was started on a full operational basis within a few minutes. The escort carrier, Trouncer, on her way to Port Said, was diverted and reached the scene two hours later, while the cruiser Devonshire, on her way to the Far East, also hastened to the position given. The rescue work involved more than a score of vessels searching for lifeboats and for passengers who jumped into the sea in lifebelts.

The crew of 49 were mostly British, with some Greeks and Egyptians and one Sudanese. The master, Captain J. A. Taylor, comes from Scotland.

Twenty-Five Killed When Scottish Express Left The Rails

TWENTY-FIVE persons were killed and 94 were taken to hospital yesterday, when a Scottish express train, which left Perth for London shortly after eight o'clock on Saturday night, became derailed at Bourne End, Hertfordshire, and the engine, tender and the leading coaches fell down a 20-foot slope, where they stood on their ends.

It was not known at a late hour last night whether this was the full toll of the accident—the worst on a British railway since November, 1940.

The train consisted of fifteen coaches. A sleeping coach at the rear escaped damage, only one window being broken. The accident occurred after the train had been switched from the up "fast" line to the up "slow," because of track repairs in Boxmoor tunnel.

Ambulances and rescue parties from a neighbouring U.S. aerodrome at Bovingdon, with farm workers and others living in the district, hurried to the scene and began to extricate the dead and injured from the tangled wreckage. Several people could be seen pinned under the broken coaches. Six hours after the accident casualties were still being taken to hospital.

The rescue workers, who included British as well as American servicemen, toiled throughout the day with lifting gear and oxy-acetylene torches rescuing the injured and extricating the dead. While they worked, the injured, laid beside the track before removal to hospital, were given food and hot drinks by people from nearby houses.

Twenty doctors quickly arrived on the scene, clambered over the wreckage administering morphia to those pinned beneath twisted steel and woodwork.

An official statement from the L.M.S. during the morning said:—"The L.M.S. Railway regret to announce that the 8.20 p.m. passenger train from Perth to Euston was derailed at Bourne End, near Hemel Hempstead, Herts., at 9.5 this morning. A number of passengers were injured, a few fatally.

"Details will be issued later. There will be delays to all main line trains to and from Euston for some hours. A special inquiry will be held to determine the cause of the accident."

Four coaches from the wrecked express arrived at No. 2 Platform, Euston, London, shortly after 1 p.m.

One man who was early on the scene of the accident said: "The train, which had a number of sleeping coaches, was crowded and there were a number of Servicemen aboard. The engine and tender were over on their side, and one of the crew could be seen beneath. Fortunately there was no fire."

The derailed coaches fell into a mangold field of a 300-acre farm adjoining the railway line.

Rescue workers toiled throughout the day to take the dead and injured from a 30 feet high heap of twisted steel and woodwork. Among the dead were some children. Oxygen was supplied to two persons believed to be an elderly couple in danger of suffocating beneath the body of a kilted soldier. The body of the soldier was removed later.

SAW THE CRASH

Signalman H. Nash, of Berkhampstead, was in his box immediately opposite the scene of the disaster and saw the train crash.

By 8 o'clock last night the authorities were satisfied that all the passengers who were still alive had been extricated. Early to-day the breakdown gangs were engaged in removing further wreckage, beneath which, it was feared, would be found other bodies.

Fire-Force Commander Stanford, of Stevenage, paid a tribute to the courage and patience of the trapped and injured people.

JUMPED THE RAILS

A sleeping berth attendant on the wrecked train said, on his arrival at Euston, that the engine shot off the rails at points where the train ran on to what is termed "a slower line." The front four coaches overturned. "I was in one of the rear sleeping coaches, and though there were no serious injuries we all got a terrible shaking up," he said. He had his back encased in adhesive plaster, and had been treated for shock and bruises.

From a coach balanced in an upright position on the wreckage of others, an elderly Scots woman got out uninjured. Her sole remark to the rescuers was, "I could not make out where we were going."

One of the injured, a girl who was trapped in the wreckage, kept asking for lemonade. A police constable brought some from a shop a quarter of a mile away, and this was passed down to her.

Among those taken to the Hempstead House Hospital, Hemel Hempstead, was a boy of five, believed to be Roger O'Maley, suffering from minor injuries.

THE DEAD

The bodies of the following had been recovered at an early hour this morning:—

Staff-Sergeant Neil McNab, a Canadian soldier; Dr. Schofranger, Norwegian naval surgeon; B. McGoarty, Croydon, a soldier; Mr. E. E. Williams, G.W.R. checker at Shrewsbury; Mr. William Smith, Stoneyburn, Fifeshire; Mr. W. A. H Toy, Coventry; Mr. Tom Telford, Haslar, Gosport; L.A.C. H. C. Gilbert, R.A.F., Oban (home address, Winchester); L.A.C. H. A. Frost, R.A.F., 135 Wing, Errol (home address, Greenwich); Corporal L. Casburn, Broomfield Camp, Edinburgh; Mr. David Macbeth, Black Watch, Perth; Mr. E. J. Griffin, Brockley, London; Mr. E. A. Hill, L.M.S. dining-car conductor, Harpenden; Lance-Corporal Josef D. Ziattas (Polish Forces); Sergeant Lumgair, Black Watch, Perth; a woman, aged 35; L.A.C. Harris, R.A.F. Station, Errol and Sotherby Cray, Kent; a man thought to be Private Wielard (may be Royal Marine, Royal Navy or foreign navy); a girl, aged 15; a female, aged 25; Corporal H. Grassie, of the A.T.S., and William Corie Burleigh, of the Royal Canadian Artillery.

Japan Threatened With Starvation

JAPAN faces the threat of starvation this winter, Colonel Ray Kramer, Chief of the Economic and Scientific Section of the U.S. occupying force, said yesterday in Tokyo. He added: "The Japanese seem completely dazed, and inclined to be completely helpless in trying to prepare for the winter.

"Japan is entirely prostrated industrially," Colonel Kramer said, "and unless imports are brought into the country a complete paralysis of industry will result."

BANKS SEIZED

Armed Allied troops yesterday seized and closed all Japanese banks and financial institutions, whose main purpose had been the financing of Japanese war production, mobilisation, and control of the financial resources of former Japanese-occupied territories, says Reuter.

Japanese Finance Ministry representatives were summoned to the occupation headquarters, and fifteen minutes later the troops were seizing the financial organisations.

The Japanese officials were handed an order closing the institutions, freezing their operations and removing their officials. The Japanese Government was also directed to seize and deliver up all books, records and papers not on the premises now occupied by guards, and to impound all gold and silver currency, securities, notes, mortgages, pledges and other assets also not on the premises.

More than 30 Japanese officers connected with the administration of prisoners-of-war camps in Siam have been identified as perpetrators of atrocities, or as being responsible for maladministration which resulted in the deaths of thousands of British, Australian and Dutch prisoners, says an A.P. cable from Bangkok.

A Singapore cable states that special tribunals will be set up to investigate all complaints about alleged collaboration with, or assistance to, the Japanese during the occupation.

Dr. Evatt, Australian Minister for External Affairs, now in London, yesterday welcomed the early establishment of a Far Eastern commission to carry out the Japanese surrender. He said: "Australia has advocated for some time the establishment of a body of this kind, to enable countries who have taken a prominent part in the defeat of Japan to participate at the highest level in the consideration and formulation of post-armistice policy, and I have had helpful discussions in London with both Mr. Bevin and Mr. Byrnes."

"No Civil War" In China

No agreement has yet been signed between Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek and General Mao Tse-tung, Chairman of the Chinese Communist Party, but the new political council will probably comprise equal numbers of the Kuomintang, Communists, other parties, and non-party representatives, says Reuter's special correspondent.

Both the Chinese leaders have declared that under no circumstances will they provoke civil war.

All vital decisions have been taken by the two leaders in person.

Chiang Kai-shek recently offered the Communists participation in the Government; they rejected the offer. Two previous attempts at settlement failed because the Kuomintang would not consent to the Communist demand for a coalition Government.

Tourist Board To Foster Golf

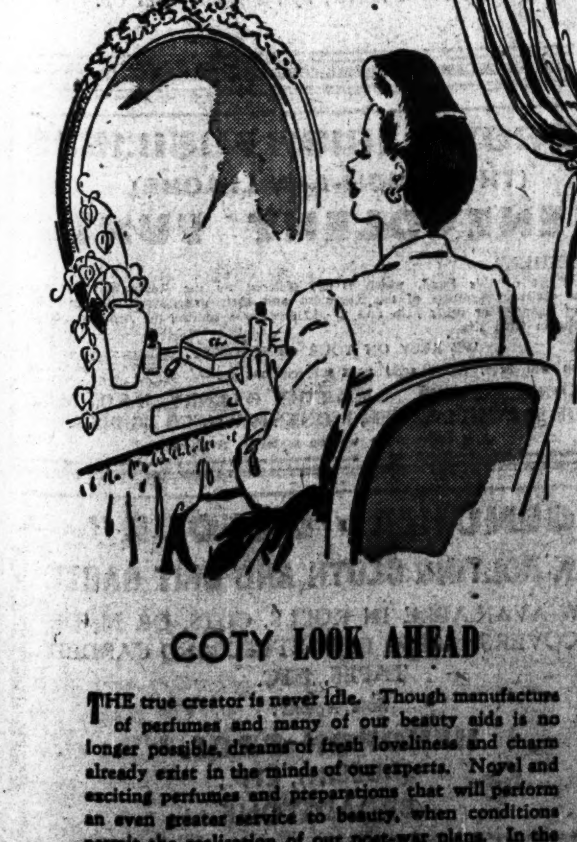

Speaking as a guest at the Portmarnock Golf Club dinner on Saturday night, Mr. J. P. O'Brien, Chairman of the Irish Tourist Board, said that the Board recognised that one of the greatest magnets the country possessed from the tourist point of view was golf, and they intended to use it to attract the tourist.

Their first step would be to erect the best and the most-up-to-date clubhouses possible. He hoped shortly to visit the United States of America, inspect the golf courses and clubhouses there and to bring back with him plans and ideas that the Board would be able to utilise in the erection at Killarney, Ireland's premier tourist resort, of the most modern and best equipped clubhouse in the country. He also would like to see an even much bigger and more suitable clubhouse at Portmarnock, and another golf course adjacent to the existing one.

If it were possible for the Board to help in that direction they would do so, and if the Golfing Union of Ireland were serious in reference to the launching of a big tournament that would attract to the country golfers from all over the world the Board would co-operate in the scheme in order to advance the case of Ireland as a tourist resort.

Vacancies in Dail

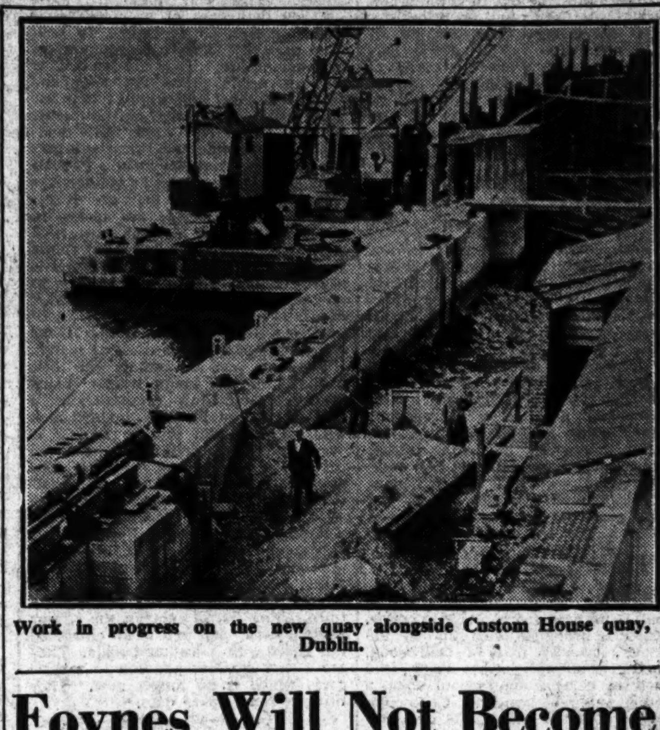

At a meeting of the Ennis Executive of Fianna Fail, on Friday, reference was made to the Dail vacancy in Clare, and Mr. Sean O'Grady, T.D., Parliamentary Secretary to the Minister for Industry and Commerce, said that it rested with Fine Gael to move the writ. If they did not do so the Government would not move, for they had strength enough as matters stood. If Fine Gael moved the writ for Clare, writs for other vacant seats would follow automatically, and it would be a miniature general election.

COTY LOOK AHEAD

THE true creator is never idle. Though manufacture of perfumes and many of our beauty aids is no longer possible, dreams of fresh loveliness and charm already exist in the minds of our experts. Novel and exciting perfumes and preparations that will perform an even greater service to beauty, when conditions permit the realisation of our post-war plans. In the meantime, we are still able to maintain a minimum service which provides every essential for the preservation of beauty. Although in emergency packs, COTY preparations conform to the pre-war standard of COTY quality.

Foynes Will Not Become A "Deserted Village"

"IN view of the fact that Foynes has been side-stepped, is the proposed expenditure of £7,000 not considerable?" Mr. I. W. Canty asked during a discussion on Foynes water supply improvements at a meeting of Limerick County Council on Saturday.

"There is no truth in the suggestion that Foynes will become a 'deserted village.'

"Notwithstanding certain propaganda, Foynes will continue to expand, and it will become a very important place in the future, not only as an airport, but as a port for ocean-going vessels," the County Manager, Mr. R. J. Meghen, declared. He said the water service was essential, and the scheme was adopted unanimously.

LONDON-NEW YORK

Pan-American Airways will re-establish twice-weekly air service between New York and London this month, with 40-passenger land type Clippers on 15-hour schedules, it was announced by the company in London this morning. The overseas fleet will shortly be increased by four-engined high speed constellation-type planes, which will carry 50 passengers, and will reduce the transit time between New York and London to 12 hours.

The round-the-world flight Skymaster landed at Cairo yesterday, and took off for Karachi half-an-hour later, says Reuter.

AMENDMENTS

An official document containing amendments to the Convention Relating to the Regulation of Air Navigation has been presented to both Houses of the Oireachtas by the Minister for External Affairs. The original regulations were made so long ago as October 13th, 1919, and the amendments were made at a meeting of the International Commission for Air Navigation in Brussels, in June, 1935. According to the document, twenty-six nations have signified their acceptance of the amendments or modifications—that for Ireland being signed by Mr. Seán Murphy, the Minister to France and Belgium.

The Irish ratification was deposited with the International Commission on February 13th, 1945. The amendments are mainly of a technical character. They refer to various matters, such as licensing of aircraft, the right of flying over other countries, the obligation to instal radio-communication stations in aircraft engaged in international navigation, the carrying of explosives, the collection and dissemination of meteorological information.

No Anglo-Irish Trade Talks Yet

Declaring that the time was not yet ripe for a full exchange of views on Anglo-Irish trade, Mr. Sean O'Grady, Parliamentary Secretary to the Minister for Industry and Commerce, stated yesterday that when Mr. Lemass visited England this week his discussions would be confined to civil aviation alone.

Mr. O'Grady, who was addressing Clare Comhairle Dail Ceanntair, Fianna Fail, at Ennis, warned his listeners not to allow themselves to be deluded into the belief that broader issues would be discussed. Before a discussion on trade between this country and England could take place, he said, considerable preparation would be necessary on both sides. Even with the best of intentions and good feeling, there were difficulties in the way at present, due to the scarcity of many commodities.

Mr. O'Grady said he issued the warning because there was a danger, due to certain newspaper reports, that people might "jump to hasty and ill-founded conclusions."

250 Allied Prisoners-of-War Shot in Nine Days

FOR nine days, Allied prisoners, mainly French, whose bodies have been uncovered in a mass grave near Luneburg, were systematically shot, about a dozen a day, by their German guards.

A German signalman, who witnessed the shootings from his signal box and counted the daily tally of victims, told Reuter's correspondent that about 250 men emerged alive from the sealed wagons of a train hit by the R.A.F. when the Luneburg line was raided last April. An S.S. Lieut.-Col. and three guards were in charge of the prisoners. The two privates shot about a dozen survivors each day.

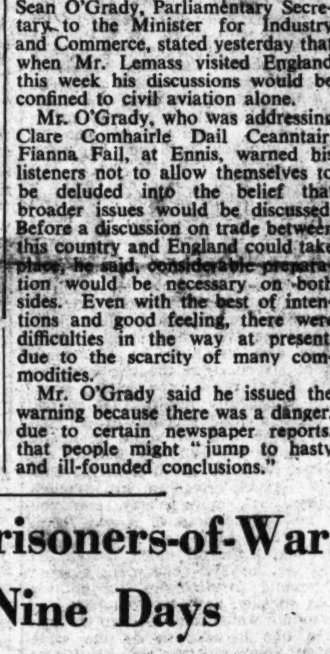

Some prisoners were sent to search trucks for food and when they returned empty-handed they were shot. At dawn one morning some prisoners were found lying beneath the bodies of the dead for warmth. They were pulled out and executed. The prisoners were without food all the time.

A day or two before the British arrived the guards ordered the prisoners to load the dead on a lorry. The prisoners were then divided into two groups, and the final shootings began. When only two men were left alive, the guards ordered them to climb on the lorry and lie on the bodies. As soon as they did so a private climbed up after them and shot them.

Many former guards of Belsen and Auschwitz concentration camps, wanted for trial as war criminals, are hiding in Germany in the guise of displaced persons, says Reuter. Hauptsturmführer Schwarz, alleged to have selected thousands of Polish Jews for the Auschwitz gas chamber, has been masquerading as a Serbian. He was recognised by his former secretary, who knew his peculiar gait, but he escaped.

The first trial of war criminals reported to be held in Soviet-occupied Germany opened in Dresden yesterday, where five S.S. men are appearing before a "People's Court" on charges of killing and ill-treating internees in the Radebergerhof concentration camp.

According to Berlin radio last night, two of the accused men were sentenced to death.

Situation Worse In Bombay

The situation in the Bombay riot area deteriorated late last night and the curfew area was extended to four square miles, says Reuter.

Two more deaths last night brought the death roll to 30, with 141 in hospital.

Just before midnight several cases of arson of a minor nature were reported and the authorities fear more extensive outbreaks.

British troops have been warned to stand by ready to go into the area early to-day as reserve.

Jews Demand Return To Palestine

An indictment of conditions under which 60,000 Jewish displaced persons are living in the British, American and French zones in Germany, and a nine-point programme demanding redress and an "open door to Palestine," were outlined by leading Jewish relief workers yesterday, states Reuter.

Mr. Easterman, of the World Jewish Agency, says the displaced Jews—the vast majority of whom are in the British and U.S. zones—are still maintained at Belsen, Landsberg and Felderfing camps under semi-prison conditions. He alleged bad housing conditions while at Belsen, at least, there are good, empty houses, inadequate food and medical services. Any attempt to force the Jews back to their countries of origin will be resisted. There is only one solution which they will accept, and that is to go to Palestine. The nine-point programme demanded that the Jews should live freely in exclusively Jewish open camps under Jewish administration, and with a Jewish liaison with the Allied authorities.

Moslem leaders have drawn up a note to the Allies stating that the partition of Palestine might lead to the proclamation of a "holy war," with the support of the sovereign Arab States.

Savings to Be Used In Northern Ireland

Speaking at a luncheon in Belfast on Saturday, Lord Jowitt, the Lord Chancellor, declared that he did not want to visualise any future unless Northern Ireland was still going to be at Britain's side.

The Lord Chancellor, who had earlier inaugurated Belfast's Thanksgiving Savings Week, said he would not like to think what would have been the outcome of the Battle of the Atlantic had Britain not had the support of Northern Ireland and its geographical position. Lord Jowitt asked the public not to be alarmed about financial talks going on at present.

Eisenhower Reports Food Problem Serious In Germany

IN the first full authentic story of how Germans are living under American occupation, General Eisenhower, in a report, stated that the demilitarisation of Germany is proceeding rapidly; the people will have no coal this winter for house heating; inflationary pressure is growing; the most serious problem is food.

The average food consumption is one-third below accepted subsistence level, the report said.

The following points, says Reuter, were made in General Eisenhower's report:—

Decentralisation—To decentralise political structure and economy, modified Governments have been established at all levels, including State Governments, with capitals in Munich, Stuttgart, Darmstadt and Marburg.

De-Nazification—Nazi organisations, discriminatory laws and propaganda have been abolished. In the U.S. zone 80,000 persons in the mandatory arrest category are being detained. Another 70,000 ardent Nazis have been removed from office, and "more than nominal Nazis" are being removed from schools, churches and hospitals.

MUST GET WOOD

Economy—The German people have been warned that the responsibility of bringing in the harvests is theirs, and as there will be no coal for house heating this winter they must stock up with wood.

Industry—Less than 10 p.c. of factories in the zone are operating at all.

Food—"Perhaps the most serious problem."

Average consumption is now about one-third below the generally accepted subsistence level of 2,000 calories per person per day.

Transport—By the end of July 78 per cent. of railway lines in the U.S. zone were workable.

Trade—Black markets are not developing significantly. Inflationary pressure is growing.

Finance—A courier system is working. Most banks are open. Total currency in circulation is about 73,500,000,000 Reichsmarks, several times the pre-war figure. Inflationary implications are obvious.

Public Safety—The population was generally orderly and obedient, and there were no serious disturbances. Police systems have been reorganised.

HEALTH GOOD

Health—Conditions generally are good. Some local epidemics of dysentry and typhoid fever resulted from damaged water and sewage systems. Typhus has declined.

Education—U.S. and British authorities have agreed to a general opening of schools on October 1.

Religion—All groups have permission to conduct services.

Politics—Except for the Bavarian Freedom Action Movement, most of the political organisations proposed have been Leftist, led principally by former Social Democrats and Communists.

British Military Government officials yesterday announced a levy of clothing on the Germans. Clothing, footwear, blankets will be collected in the British zone and distributed to displaced persons, former war prisoners, victims of concentration camps, civilians in hospital, German soldiers awaiting disbandment, and essential workers in mining and transport.

Of 600 factories built by the Germans during their occupation of Czechoslovakia, 520 are to remain Czech property, as the result of a recent Czech-Soviet agreement.

Annamites Mass Above Saigon

Nine nationalities are now involved in the Indo-China disturbances, and there are indications that the Annamites are massing on the outskirts of Saigon for a concerted attack when 1,000 French troops disembark on October 3rd, says an A.P. correspondent in Saigon.

Major-General Gracey, Commanding Officer of the Saigon Control Commission, has ordered the active participation of Japanese troops, and 1,700 former Dutch prisoners-of-war have been armed.

Nationalities involved include British, French, American, Dutch, Chinese, Indian, Gurkhas and Japanese against the Annamites.

British officials insist the situation has eased and that fighting is now restricted to the Saigon suburbs, where kukri-wielding Gurkhas outflanked 20 of the Annamites, who had previously turned back Indian troops and French marines, in a three-hour pitched battle.

GRACEY'S ORDER

General Gracey, before leaving for Singapore for interviews with Admiral Mountbatten and the Secretary for War, Mr. Lawson, told the Japanese Field-Marshal, Count Terauchi, Commander of the Japanese Southern Army, to instruct his troops to co-operate with the British and shoot to kill at all aggressive Annamites. Gracey also said he had evidence of numerous instances of Japanese assistance to the Annamites, and he wanted no more of it.

Australian dockers will refuse to load food on to Dutch ships bound for the Dutch East Indies if it is found the food is destined for an army of intervention to suppress the Indonesian Republican movement, Mr. Healy, National President of the Australian Waterside Workers' Federation, stated yesterday in Sydney.

A statement published by the Netherlands Embassy in London says that Soekarno and his followers in Java are a "puppet government," armed and aided by he Japanese.

Twelve To Die In France

Dr. Jean Barthet, Secretary-General of Joseph Darnand's Vichy militiamen in the Haute Garonne, was sentenced to death at Toulouse yesterday. Eleven other members of Barthet's militia group also received the death sentence. The twelve men were responsible for the deaths of at least 100 patriots.

The Sûreté Générale, France's Scotland Yard, has given details of the greatest international spy case in its history, leading to 6,000 arrests since last December. The arrests, it was stated, were almost entirely French "die-hard" collaborationists whom the Nazis tried to organise in the last months of the war into a vast ring for espionage, sabotage, and fifth column activity.

Originally fixed for next Wednesday, the trial of Joseph Darnand, who is charged with having taught at the training schools and of having assassinated the former Ministers, Jean Zay and Georges Mandel, may be postponed on account of the French elections on October 21st. Laval, the former Vichy Premier, should be tried a week after Darnand, but his trial may also be postponed.—(Reuter and A.P.)

Fixing Wheat Prices

Criticising the system of determining the price of wheat on the basis of moisture content, South Tipperary County Committee of Agriculture has asked the Department of Agriculture to revert to the bushelling system.

Russians Close Private Banks and Reichsbank

FOUR-POWER negotiations to set up a German central finance administration were said yesterday in Berlin to be making progress; but, says Reuter's special correspondent, until precise agreements are reached on note circulation, balanced expenditure and recognition of State debts, no such organisation can operate effectively.

Agreement is believed near on the restriction of note circulation and control of expenditure, but a snag has arisen over the proposed banking system for Germany. The Russians, claiming that private banks are bankrupt, are continuing to set up banks controlled by municipal and provincial authorities, and have closed down all private banks, as well as the Reichsbank.

If no agreement is reached, Germany will have two banking systems—private banks in the British, American and French zones, and publicly-controlled banks in the Russian zone.

Another problem is facing the German State Railways.

Reports from the British zone indicate that proceeds from taxation are better than anticipated and bank deposits are considered satisfactory.

The Russians have co-operated in restricting note circulation and controlling expenditure. They do not appear to be issuing excessive quantities of occupation currency. The Soviet private soldier is believed to receive about 60 occupation marks a month (30 shillings). He is not permitted to remit the money to Russia, and, therefore, tends to buy in Germany.

REICH DEBTS

No progress appears to have been achieved on the question of recognition of Reich debts. Apart from the need to maintain a stable society, the solvency of banks and insurance companies is implicit in such recognition, and Britain is believed to be pressing for it.

Much progress has been made on the question of the restitution of stolen machinery. Progress has also been made in drafting measures by which to secure for the Allies German assets in such neutral countries as Sweden, Spain and Portugal.

It is not clear whether only official buildings and commercial enterprises will be seized or whether all German property is to be sequestrated, including house property. Some of the countries assert that large debt balances remain from their trade with Germany, and claim that the property in question should be placed against these debts.

HOLYHEAD CUSTOMS SPEED-UP

PROTESTS by Irish travellers against the long Customs delay at Holyhead, have led to a relaxation of the regulations, says the Press Association, adding that on Saturday 1,100 passengers to Eire passed through the Customs in 50 minutes instead of suffering the usual delay of over three hours.

Documents of identity must still be scrutinised, but this does not cause much delay.

Some of the formalities for passengers arriving at Holyhead are also being dispensed with, but the time saving is not so great.

EXIT PERMITS ABOLISHED

From to-day, exit permits will not be required by British subjects or aliens leaving Great Britain. As in peace-time, travellers will be able to leave, provided they have a passport, states the Home Office.

In view of the present man-power position, however, men and women born after 1914 who have attained the age of 18, and are liable for military or national service, must have permission from the Ministry of Labour before they can obtain passports, or in the case of journeys to Ireland, travel cards.

No additional accommodation is yet available by sea or air for long journeys.

Ministers Sit All Night To Reach Finality

The "Big Five" were holding an "all night" session last night, trying to finish their business so that the Ministers from abroad who are anxious to get back to their own capitals can get away, states the P.A. diplomatic correspondent.

Until the afternoon they had spent about ten hours on the preparation of the protocol, which is the official record of their proceedings, and will not be made public, and of the long final communiqué which, it is expected, will be published to-morrow. At 9.30 p.m. they met again in an effort to finish the job.

Difficulties over the wording and contents of the two documents were encountered at the two long meetings held on Saturday and again yesterday, when, for the first time, the Ministers met on a Sunday.

According to present arrangements the Council will be convened again at the end of November or the beginning of December, when it will receive the reports and documents prepared by the five deputies, who will remain in permanent session in London studying the problems of the Italian colonies, Trieste and the Balkans, and the many other matters which have been passed on to them by the Council.

Women May Be Diplomatists

A Committee has been appointed by the British Foreign Secretary to re-examine the question of the admission of women to the senior branch of the Foreign Service, and to report thereon.

The members of the Committee are:—Sir Ernest Gowers, Chairman; the Countess of Limerick, Miss Ethel Strudwick, Mrs. Arthur Yencken, Miss Dorothy Elliott, Sir Thomas Dunlop, Sir Guy Locock.

The Countess of Limerick, a prominent social worker, recently made a tour of inspection of the Red Cross and St. John relief work in German atrocity camps. She was a member of the Royal Commission on equal pay.

Spring Flower Planting

(By G. O. SHERRARD.)

THE summer occupants of our flower beds have now become very bedraggled, and many of them are ceasing to bloom, so that we can change over to the spring flowers without regret. It is an advantage to get the spring bedding done early, as it enables the plants to get rooted while the soil is still warm, and thus puts them in a stronger position to stand the winter. Wallflowers planted now will give a better account of themselves next spring than those planted in three weeks' time.

After clearing the beds of the summer bedding plants, which will make a welcome addition to the compost heap, a good layer of humus-forming material should be dug in. This might consist of decayed manure, supplemented by vegetable compost, old potting soil, leaf-mould or turf-mould. Hoof and horn meal and bone meal mixed would help to eke out a poor supply of manure. After digging, the ground should be firmed up by tramping it all over, unless it is too wet, when a firming with the back of the spade would be sufficient. Finally, it is raked smooth.

WALLFLOWERS

The plants that we can use for spring bedding are limited in number. Bulbs now are expensive, so that the main effects have to be produced with such things as wallflowers (ordinary and Siberian), Brompton stocks, polyanthus primroses, coloured daisies, myosotis, pansies, aubrietia and arabis. I much prefer wallflowers bedded in mixed colours rather than in lines or beds of a single shade. The Siberian wallflower has a colour which does not please everyone. I used it mixed with the ordinary wallflower last year in the proportion of about five ordinary to one Siberian and was satisfied with the result. Wallflowers to be a success should be bushy and not spindly at planting time. Ten inches is a suitable spacing. Brompton stocks, like wallflowers, make a very fine bed and can be planted at 1 ft. apart if the plants are strong.

Polyanthus primroses are admirable for bedding, and these also I prefer in mixed colours. They are not suited to a dry position nor are forget-me-nots, which show their dislike of drought by developing mildew. Pansies are being used to an increasing extent for spring beds, now that they are available in separate colours from seed. The brown strain of pansy blends well with wallflowers and primroses, and the blue strain makes a pleasing contrast with any yellow flower; they are also good in mixture. Daisies are principally used for edging, as are aubrietia, arabis and yellow alyssum.

Irish Stock Breeders' Bid For Export Trade

Plans are being made for an advertising campaign in overseas countries, particularly Canada and Australia, to arouse interest in Irish-bred shorthorn cattle.

Irish shorthorns invariably do well when sold abroad, and at the recent Palermo Show the principal cattle event in Argentina, an Irish-bred shorthorn, Kilkea Thunderbolt, bred by Mr. R. K. Wright, of Kilkea, Mageney, Co. Kildare, in 1943, was sold for approximately £800. It was sold at last year's R.D.S. Bull Show to Mr. J. D. Key, of Rugby, one of the judges, for 400 guineas, and later shipped to South America.

New York's Lead in Travel Charges

By OUR NEW YORK CORRESPONDENT

FOR the equivalent of about threepence, you can get from one end of New York to the other, or about twenty miles. Yes, a nickel will take you from the farthest point south in Brooklyn to the most northern part of the Bronx. You put your nickel in the slot, pass the turnstile, and you are finished for the rest of the journey. There are no tickets and no inspectors, as in the London Underground or the French Métro. The subway cars are the quickest and cheapest means of transportation, and they run all day and night. The Eighth Avenue and the Independent are the quickest and cleanest, especially the express trains. All are owned and operated by the city.

Advertisements in the subways are like magazines. There are news, and interesting facts about New York, cooking, household hints, notices of concerts, courses at the colleges, and even a monthly competition to choose Miss Subways and, of course, the ordinary "ads." I suppose the advertisers like their "ads." to be beside reading matter. Every month they choose a pretty girl, who rides the subway to work or to school, and name her Miss Subways of whatever month it is. They place her picture with a short biographical note in a conspicuous place among the advertisements in each car. Another interesting feature is the colour reproduction of well-known paintings, which can be had at the Metropolitan Museum of Art for fifteen cents or so. They inform you how you can write away for them.

NATIONAL BEVERAGE

It seems to me there is some competition for the national beverage of America between Coco-cola and coffee. Coco-cola probably wins out in the summer, because it is a cold soda, though, what with coffee being iced and there being a shortage of coke, a popular abbreviation of Coco-cola, perhaps coffee is holding its own this season. There are many schools of thought in the making of coffee. Some like it made in a percolator, some like drip method; this is something like the way the French make café filtré. The boiling water is poured over the grounds and is allowed to drip through the strainer. Then there is the silex method, which is made with a special machine. You have your coffee ground to suit the method you use. American coffee is never made with chicory. Café au lait is practically unknown, but the trick of using evaporated milk gives the taste, colour and appearance of cream. The best way to make iced coffee is to make coffee just as you would make it ordinarily, only twice as strong; then pour it over plenty of ice. With sugar and/or cream to taste, it is a drink fit for the gods.

America is not a tea-drinking nation, but they have a way with tea which is worth notice. It saves time, thought and trouble. It is a well-known fact that Americans seek the easiest way to do anything; they like to have as little trouble eating things as possible. It is a nuisance to have pips in oranges, grapefruit or grapes, so they eliminated the seeds. I always loved peaches, but regretted the big stone in the middle to which the fruit clung. Now they have peaches which they call aptly freestone. The stone comes out cleanly and easily. Now they are working on a chicken with more meat in proportion to its bones and shorter and meatier legs, and more carvable white and dark meat. And similarly with tea. Tea-bags are the solution of the problem; they make little bags of special paper, put about a quarter of a teaspoon of tea in it, sew it up, put a piece of string on one corner to handle it. Then you can put this directly into your cup and pour water over it, or you can put one or two into the regular teapot and make a pot of tea almost as good as the real thing. It is simple, easy, and needs no timing.

COSMETICS

A new trick in make-up, which is taken from the Hollywood experts, is putting on lipstick with a brush. Lots of girls are using these small brushes, which cost as little as ten cents (about sixpence) in the five and ten store (Woolworths), and getting much more satisfactory results. Of course, it takes a little practice to get the right curve and to attain a steady motion of the hand in making the outline, but it is worth it in the end. Your lipstick goes on in a much thinner coat, more evenly, and you are not so conscious of it and, therefore, not so liable to eat it off. It, therefore, stays on much longer. I must say, however, one needs a sense of humour to persevere, for nothing looks so silly, and the contortions of the mouth which some girls go through make one hesitate to do the same thing. Some girls are so unaware of that side of it that they do it with a brush even in restaurants and other public places.

IRISH-JEWISH CLUB

Once a month the American-Irish-Jewish club holds its meetings in Chicago. It is the only club of its kind in existence, and is made up of Irish-born Jewish immigrants or children of such people. There are 200 in all, and the club has been in existence since 1938. The meetings and the activities are purely social, and their one participation in Irish customs is their dance on St. Patrick's Day. The club was started by Jim Heffernan, a Jewish man, when he was visiting his sister in the Windy City, who suggested that they hunt up people with the same Jewish-Irish background. Among their activities have been the raising of money to buy a piano for the Great Lakes Naval Training Centre, and the sending of innumerable packages overseas. They are now working on a scheme to make a mass visit to Ireland as soon as passenger travelling is possible. Efforts to establish a club like it in New York were made, but without any success.

If there is one rule followed by all smartly dressed American women it is that attention to accessories is half the battle. Shoes, gloves, hats and pocket books are given as much care as the coat or dress or suit itself. Pocket books, by the way, are what American women call handbags or purses. This year they are more startling than ever or as conservative as you please, all depending on your taste or style. They are enormous or of medium size. They are leather, or felt, or cordé; they are long and narrow or short and stubby; they are like small hatboxes or miniature baskets, but they are all fairly expensive, because they have a luxury tax of 20 per cent. on them. Popular among the more expensive leathers are crocodile and lizard; they are mostly conventional, for they are meant to last for years and do. A neat trick is to have hat, bag, gloves and shoes, and even belt, of the same colour—lizard—it not being as expensive as crocodile. Many of the new leather bags are trimmed with large pieces of imitation tortoiseshell, and they make compacts and cigarette cases to match.

Belts this year are coming into their own. You see many simple black dresses, whose only decoration is a gold, silver or brilliant studded belt with necklace and pin to match. A very interesting dress I noticed on Fifth Avenue was one of dark grey wool jersey, high-necked and brief-sleeved, whose only trimming was the wide ocelot belt which held the skimpily-gathered skirt. Fur belts are very popular, and give a dress that amusing touch which seems to be in vogue now. Ocelot, leopard or ermine belts are seen a lot around town, either flat or tubular, the ermine lending itself very well to an elongated tail effect with a leather buckle. They are a very effective addition to a basic dress which is no longer new. They bring it right up to date.

Atlantic Air Route Surveys

BY A SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.

Recent survey flights by the Pan-American Trans-World Airways and American Lines have been designed to test out every section of the organisation on the route. Radio communications and direction finding, weather reporting and forecasting, airport facilities and aircraft behaviour were all tested on the 2,000-mile hop from Newfoundland. The three companies are using the same type of aircraft—the Douglas Skymaster.

Airline operators are planning on the assumption that if they get the route operating with fares within a reasonable limit of first-class accommodation on trans-Atlantic steamships before shipping resumes its regular services they will be able to secure the most profitable part of the inter-continental trade. Regular steamship services on the Atlantic route are not expected to be in operation before spring of next year, but the three American air lines promise to have their planes operating on a regular timetable before the end of November.

In each of the survey flights made within the past couple of weeks the observers have included the principal operating officers of the companies concerned, and representatives of the U.S. Civil Aeronautics Board, which bears the same relationship to air transport in America as the Department of Industry and Commerce in this country.

All the officials have expressed themselves satisfied with the service and conditions at the Irish airports. The runways at Rineanna were found to be quite adequate, although one U.S. Civil Aeronautics Board official suggested that they might be extended another 500 feet or thereabouts—they are already well over a mile in length. At Collinstown there are no concrete runways, but plans have been made for them to be laid down in the near future. More hangar accommodation also will be required at Rineanna, and probably at Collinstown, for servicing machines, although it is not planned that major overhauls will be made here, as this country is regarded more as a service station and junction than as a terminal.

Motor Cycles at £250 a Time

By Harold C. Brown

THE Ulster "Hundred" provided an outlet for the pent-up enthusiasm of six years; I could keep on writing about the race for weeks. To-day I propose to tidy up a few stray pieces.

At least one of the machines in the race cost its owner £250. Several more cost over £150. I don't know how much the McCandless rear suspension unit costs, but the eight or nine riders who had it fitted had so much to add to the prices of their machines. With a section of motor-cyclists in the North at present money seems to be a medium that is useless for anything except motor-cycling, and all pre-war ideas of values have been forgotten long ago.

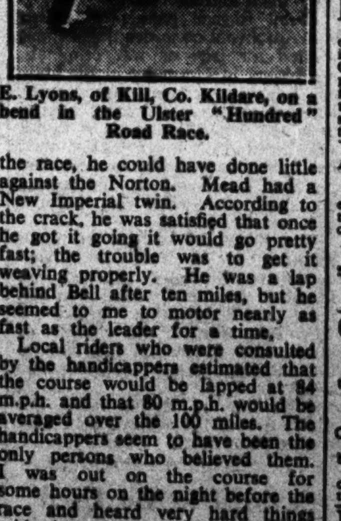

Freddy Dixon pointed out at the prize distribution that Ireland provided C. B. Franklyn to make a success of the Indian motor-cycle in America. We provided Joe Craig to make the fastest and most successful racing motor-cycle in Great Britain. We provided men like Stanley Woods and Jimmy Shaw to ride the fastest machines. Why did we not manufacture motor-cycles? Percy Johnston, the president of the Ulster Club, referred Freddy to the McCandless unit which was something conceived and made in Belfast, and according to all that I heard, something unsurpassed by other similar units.

On Saturday morning the D.M.W., which had been regarded as scratched, arrived in Belfast and in the race it was ridden by R. L. Hoey, a local boy. Its principal attraction was the Dawson suspension unit, the engine being a Triumph and the gear-box, I believe, from a Norton. It never ran with a chance, which is not surprising in view of the lack of time for practising and adjustment. Hoey got the mount only when another rider had a crash on the way to the course.

AT its next meeting, the Southern Centre of the Motor Cycle Union of Ireland will consider a motion to permit members of the Irish Army to take part in open competitions without the necessity for their belonging to affiliated clubs.

Living in Dublin, I have been out of touch with these rear suspension developments, but men who knew more than I about it told me that the Dawson project is quite ingenious and, perhaps, rather better finished than the McCandless, though not necessarily a better job.

The handicappers were severely criticised for putting Enie Lyons and R. A. Mead on the scratch mark with A. J. Bell, whose machine seems to be the fastest in Ireland. Lyons was using his 1938 Triumph twin. He is a more experienced rider than Bell, but, even had he not had serious misfiring early in the race, he could have done little against the Norton. Mead had a New Imperial twin. According to the crack, he was satisfied that once he got it going it would go pretty fast; the trouble was to get it weaving properly. He was a lap behind Bell after ten miles, but he seemed to me to motor nearly as fast as the leader for a time.

Local riders who were consulted by the handicappers estimated that the course would be lapped at 84 m.p.h. and that 80 m.p.h. would be averaged over the 100 miles. The handicappers seem to have been the only persons who believed them. I was out on the course for some hours on the night before the race and heard very hard things said about the handicappers, who, however, expected to be criticised. The fastest lap, by Bell, was at 75 m.p.h. Possibly, if there had been another equally fast machine in the race, this could have been pushed up to 78 m.p.h.

Only those closely in touch with an organisation know who is doing the work. It was generally agreed at Lisburn, however, that the race was Malcolm Wilson's show. He assured me that he had the start at Ballymacash because I once lived in that townland—a very nice compliment, if it were true; but in actual fact Ballymacash was the best starting point, and the course had the best all-round surface that I have seen on an Irish circuit for a long, long time.

During the week-end I spent in the North I travelled more miles in motor-cars than I would do in two years in Dublin since the petrol dried up. It was wonderful!

I HAVE a note here from Kildare-street asking if I will sit on a Commission to investigate Senile Delinquency. Hmmm. Kildare-street ought to have realised by now that I will have no hesitation in sitting on anything or anyone that is subversive of public morality and they needn't hope to ingratiate themselves with me by fawning on me (or by beiging, or beige-ing on me for that, mater)! Irregularities, anomalies, discrepancies, torts, malfeasances and the superstitious observation of accidents and omens, all things whatsoever be their nature or by whomsoever sponsored or sanctioned, whether they be good or evil, expedient or morally 'colourless'—I shall denounce and condemn them and shall not rest until I have forever estreated them from the social treasury of this earth. (Mars is dealt with under a different Act of mine.) I am the State ("Le stet c'est moi.") (Stet.) As for this senile delinquency, sairtently I will sit on the Commission—but only at the top of the table, with the Mace on my left hand and complete powers of light and debt, sorry, life and death over all the members and everyone else, including witnesses and even porters wandering into the room 'by mistake' with trolleyloads of files. And I must have complete silence, no smoking, no backchat, no evidence: above all, a comely atmosphere. All the waiters will be in sailor suits and they will serve only semolina and snipes of Pol Roger '29. The members of the Commission must wear their dribblers and must bring properly attested birth certificates. Each member must be attended by knight nurses, whose credentials will be examined by me in a series of interviews to take place in such hotels and restaurants downtown as I may from time to time care to nominate.

The actual business of the Commission will be conducted by me only, through my secretary who has orders to see no one. Newspaper men will be admitted to all sessions but all who attend any meeting under the terms of this order shall be summarily executed at the conclusion thereof by a clerk of works to be nominated by me and paid out of Industry and Commerce funds. (I'll guarantee Finance sanction.) Witnesses will be provided with written answers to all questions which I may at any time think proper to put. Incorrect or slovenly answering will automatically discredit the witness and all witnesses shall, in any event, be nominated by me. Nomination will cost you two and a half hundreds a time, all applications will be treated as strictly confidential and all witnesses are liable on summary conviction of senile delinquency to sentences ranging from compulsory attendance at the Dáil to complete rejuvenation for life, without the option. Terms of reference, procedure, rules of court and all other matters, pertinent and impertinent will be improvised by me in my absolute discretion. Witnesses must not dismiss for remoteness the possibility that senility itself may be deemed a delinquency and the mere fact that witnesses are not dead may, it is pointed out, count heavily against them. All officials of the Department are reminded that their war records will be subject to the closest scrutiny and if necessary I shall not hesitate to dissolve the Dept. All proceedings will be secret and no Report whatever will be published.

PEARL

"From that unrecorded day, when some scantily-clothed savage seeking for succulent food, opened an oyster, and found, to his astonishment, within its shell a delicate silvery pellet that shimmered in the light of a tropical sun, down to the present age, without any intermission, pearl has held a place all its own in the ranks of jewels."
—G. F. Herbert Smith.

Unlike other gems, pearl is of animal instead of mineral origin. Thus pearls are much less durable than precious stones, and require careful handling.

But, in spite of its softness, pearl has always held a high place in the jewellery world.

As everyone knows, pearls are formed within the shell of certain oysters, many, many layers of calcareous substance laid over any little foreign body which enters the oyster's shell to protect the animal from abrasion.

The cultured pearl is artificially stimulated, but is otherwise identical with the natural variety.

This firm offers high prices for pearl necklets, and pearl-set rings, brooches, earrings, etc., but we do NOT buy imitation or paste pearls.

PEARL

"From that unrecorded day, when some scantily-clothed savage seeking for succulent food, opened an oyster, and found, to his astonishment, within its shell a delicate silvery pellet that shimmered in the light of a tropical sun, down to the present age, without any intermission, pearl has held a place all its own in the ranks of jewels."
—G. F. Herbert Smith.

Unlike other gems, pearl is of animal instead of mineral origin. Thus pearls are much less durable than precious stones, and require careful handling.

But, in spite of its softness, pearl has always held a high place in the jewellery world.

As everyone knows, pearls are formed within the shell of certain oysters, many, many layers of calcareous substance laid over any little foreign body which enters the oyster's shell to protect the animal from abrasion.

The cultured pearl is artificially stimulated, but is otherwise identical with the natural variety.

This firm offers high prices for pearl necklets, and pearl-set rings, brooches, earrings, etc., but we do NOT buy imitation or paste pearls.

BARGAIN WITH BRITAIN

It is satisfying to learn that the Minister for Industry and Commerce will visit London this week. There was abundant and evident reason why Ministerial visits between Ireland and England should be interrupted during the war; but, with the return of peace, personal contact between the two Governments is highly desirable. Mr. Lemass's announced purpose—the fact was stressed yesterday by Mr. Sean O'Grady, his Parliamentary Secretary—is to discuss matters pertaining to air transport—in particular, no doubt, the creation of a new air agreement between Great Britain and the twenty-six counties. We may be allowed to hope, however, that, whether formally or informally, he will take the opportunity to talk on other problems that affect the two countries. The chief problem, of course, is that of the sterling assets, to a nominal value of some £450,000,000, which lie in England to Ireland's credit. The Government of the United States is believed to be demanding that, as one condition of a very substantial loan from America on easy terms, the British shall "scale down" their debts within the sterling area. That proposal, if it matures, will call for discussion between these neighbouring Governments, but we hardly think that it is sufficiently far advanced to require Mr. Lemass's presence in London. What, as we hope, he will do is to inquire when this country stands a chance of receiving goods in return for its sterling assets, at whatever figure they eventually may be stabilised. A healthy "balance" at the Bank of England is a good thing to have, but the machinery that is necessary to set this country on the road to prosperity would be better still. How quickly England will be in a position to supply it, and by that means to work off the agreed proportion of her monetary debt to this country—if Mr. Lemass can obtain a satisfactory answer to these questions, he will have done a good day's work.

So many things are needed before Ireland can set her feet firmly on the road to reconstruction. The Government has initiated an admirable scheme for the electrification of the rural areas. When this plan comes to fulfilment it inevitably will represent an unbounded improvement in the farmer's lot. It will bring him not merely the comfort of proper lighting, but, in the shape of motive power, the means of greater production. First, however, we must have the machinery for generation—the machinery necessary to harness the Erne and other rivers, as well as the bogs—and then must come the innumerable appurtenances of an electrical system—the high and low tension wires, the pylons, the transformers, the lamps, the motors. Great Britain, as we see it, remains our country's chief source of supply for this material, because, whatever financial relationship may be established between Europe and America, it looks very much as if dollars will be comparatively scarce on this side of the Atlantic for a long while yet. Other things will be needed, in addition to such apparatus. Building materials, tractors, lorries, petrol, all are required before the twenty-six counties can hope to play their full part in this new and strenuous world. It will be to Britain's interest to supply them as soon as may be. Here, at least, is one market which is capable of putting many of her factories to work at an early date; and British Ministers have made no secret of their knowledge that an early resumption of production and of exporting is essential to their country's recovery. Mr. Lemass—if, indeed, he does not confine himself to talk about air transport—will find abundant scope for discussion with his cross-Channel counterparts. We are quite satisfied that he will make every possible use of the occasion.

More Light!

"Let the people think," urges the Sunday Times, adding that, in order that they may think, they must have some solid, factual basis for their thought. The newspaper's plea is for a relaxing of the secrecy which has shrouded, and continues to shroud, Britain's public affairs. "Over the whole range," it says, "the sable pall of a security black-out still hangs heavily. Facts and figures, without which no balanced judgment can be formed, are, for no apparent reason, withheld by the Government." It is easy to understand why such reticence should be maintained in time of war, with a vigilant enemy on the perpetual look-out for information: why it should persist into time of peace is beyond comprehension. We quote this plea of the Sunday Times with the recommendation that it should be taken to heart not merely by Mr. Attlee's Government, but also by Mr. de Valera's. Not long ago we pressed for the creation of a new sense of frankness between Government and people—if necessary, for the establishment of a system of public relations officers who would be authorised, and encouraged, to give to newspapers, and to other bona fide inquirers, all and any information which it is not manifestly in the public interest to withhold. Frankness and full information are, in our view, essential to the democratic progress of this country. The war-time censorship has disappeared—unwept—but there is a danger that it may have left, as a legacy, what we can call the "censorship mind," the habit of silence. We can well understand how demands for full information on the doings of his department may upset a hard-working Minister—especially if he is not completely satisfied about the efficiency of that department or the soundness of its policies. The fact remains, however, that he has a duty to give it, and that, even if he had not such a duty, frankness is in his interest. We need only instance the willing co-operation which the late Department of Supplies received from the newspapers from the moment when Mr. Lemass initiated the practice of keeping them abreast of the latest developments—a practice which, as a direct result, helped largely to keep the public in good humour. The Government's motto ought to be that nothing which can be "released" without the certainty of harm should be kept secret. What is true of a Government department is true also of the great, semi-State concerns which have become a feature of Ireland's new economy. They have a similar duty to keep the public informed.

SLIGO T.B. DEATH-RATE

Tuberculosis in Co. Sligo was responsible for 1,057 of the deaths which occurred in the county during the year, and 33 of the 183 deaths in Sligo town were caused by the disease, says Dr. Michael Kirby, Co. Sligo Medical Officer for Health, in his 1944 report.

Pulmonary tuberculosis, he states, heads the list of mortality causes in persons under 50, and victims are mainly from the working classes between the ages of 15 and 25. Two factors, said Dr. Kirby, would mark a decline in the death-rate—improvement in the mode of life and in the standard of diet, and the development of clinical methods to combat the disease.

Dr. P. J. Burke, County Tuberculosis Officer, reported there were 227 tuberculosis patients under treatment in the county. Of the total of 113 cases of pulmonary tuberculosis diagnosed definitely, 30 were early cases, 32 moderately advanced, and 51 advanced cases.

The increase in the percentage of early cases coming for treatment was a very encouraging feature, which must be attributed to the widespread Irish Red Cross Society campaign.

He added that the death-rate from the disease in the county was 1.6. This was a decrease of six deaths as compared with 1943, and of 17 as compared with 1942, but, he said, comparatively, the county death-rate was still very high.

"JACKETS GREEN"

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—I notice in the London Letter of your issue of September 20th that you refer to the "Jackets Green" libel action stating that an Irish civil servant sued an English national newspaper unsuccessfully for £500 and costs for alleged libel, and that "Professor William Magennis . . . was quoted as saying that the book was 'without literary merit.'"

Permit me to correct your article which, in its present form, is likely to create an entirely false impression, in the manner of a quotation out of the context.

I am the author of "Jackets Green," and I did not sue an English newspaper for £500 and costs for alleged libel. I sued the paper in question for publishing the statement attributed to Professor Magennis. The jury in the case found that Professor Magennis had made the statement alleged, but that the statement in question was defamatory and untrue, and awarded me £500 damages. The newspaper, however, pleaded 'fair comment,' which plea was admitted by the Judge trying the case, who dismissed the damages awarded: he was powerless, however, to alter the verdict that it was defamatory and untrue to say that the book was 'without literary merit.'

I may say that the Judge's decision bewildered many eminent lawyers, including a prominent American lawyer who had 'watched' the case, and who remarked to my counsel and myself at the end of the case that he had been commissioned to travel to Europe to study legal procedure in various countries, and that he was 'not impressed' by the attitude of the Bench in the "Jackets Green" action.—Yours, etc.,

PATRICK MULLOY.

ARCHITECT AND BUILDER

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES

SIR,—I would like to take issue with the conclusions drawn in your leading article, "Building Prospects," of yesterday.

Improvements in the present poorly arranged dwellings in this country will only result when architects are the planners of new housing projects. Builders are prompted by motives of profit to get the most houses on the least ground, without regard for those who must occupy the resulting dwellings. The prizes you suggest should be to the architects who can plan economically, yet with a view to the living habits of the future occupiers.

Sensible planning along modern lines should in time weaken the prejudices of the public against change, and lower costs, given the materials, would inevitably result.—Yours, etc., ELIZABETH BOUCH.

POINTS FROM LETTERS

WASTE AND WANT.—At least 12 million people, without employment or income, are reported to be wandering aimlessly—hopeless, starving, homeless—with the terror of European winter before them in a few weeks' time. These starving millions are in need of every inch of shipping space, yet we are importing oats from Canada to make up a deficit considerably due to race and pleasure horses; wine and sherry from South-West Europe to replenish the supplies of those who eat and drink luxuriously. Recently we were informed by a responsible Government spokesman that our shipping space would be used strictly for essentials. The apple crop has failed. Would not oranges and lemons for our children and our sick have been more "essential" imports than wine?

Let us be honest! If we will not do, and insist that our Government does, what clearly we can and ought to do to curtail luxury living and sport, increase food production, eliminate waste, and ship supplies thereby saved to the starving, then our prayers for the starving are just a mockery.—CORMAC LLOYD, The Rectory, Castlerea, Co. Roscommon.

DUSTBINS.—Many houses originally planned for one family are now divided into flats. The kitchens are small, yet the dustbin has to be housed there, where food is stored and prepared. In my district the bins are emptied twice a week, but if there is a Monday Bank Holiday they remain unemptied for a week. Most Dublin houses have quite large yards or gardens. Surely a law could be passed insisting that landlords permit the tenants to have their bins in a portion of the garden? — FLAT-DWELLER, Fitzwilliam square, Dublin.

IRISH HOSPITAL IN FRANCE.—Colonel McKinney, head of the Irish Red Cross Hospital Unit in France, made incidental reference recently to the fact that the hospital had "great difficulty in assembling" heating and lighting apparatus. The explanation of this surprising "difficulty," which long delayed the use of all the electrical equipment so laboriously and expensively procured and brought to St. Lo, is very simple: the Irish Red Cross brought only 220-volt equipment, but the current at St. Lo is 110-volt. Who was responsible for this incredibly stupid blunder? — "OBSERVER," Dublin.

AN IRISHMAN'S DIARY

Bogey Holes

THERE are three terrific holes at St. Andrews, and one almost equally difficult. The first presents the aspiring record breaker with an early headache. From the tee it looks simple enough. A reasonably good drive, an easy iron (most of the big-wigs used a No. 7 or No. 8) and there you are, nicely placed for your four.

Oh yeah, as some of the American entrants would say after their sobering experiences last week. You see, there is the little problem of the Swilcan Burn to be negotiated. This burn is more famous than the River Tay itself, and for very sound reasons. It often knocks the best golfer off his form before he has rightly started. The Swilcan is not a gently babbling brook, meandering across the course. It is a kind of canal, about three feet broad, flowing between perpendicular banks, if you can call them banks, right along the edge of the first green. There never can be any doubt about your approach shot to that green. You either are, or are not, in the burn; and as often as not you are! Your pitch must be dead accurate; and I noticed that if you got into the burn once, you tended to repeat the performance ad libitum. One unfortunate fellow plonked four brand new balls into that alluring hazard, to collect a calamitous eight for the hole.

Most of the holes at St. Andrews have pet names, like those, for example, at our own Island at Malahide. The first is the Burn, the next the Dyke (nothing whatever to do with that horrid vulgarism which is used in Ireland to signify a hole in one under bogey), others Cartgate, Ginger Beer, Hole o' Cross, Heathery Sixth, Corner of the Dyke, Road Hole, and, finally, Tom Morris at the eighteenth.

The Fourteenth

After the first the next real terror for the Tiger players is the fourteenth, described on the card with ominous simplicity as the Long Fourteenth. And it is pretty long in goodly sooth—527 yards, and more from the last tee. This is the hole that seemed to get nearly all the boys into dire trouble, although actually it is some twelve yards shorter than the fifth, where Harry Bradshaw missed a short putt for a "birdie" four.

The bunkers make all the difference. Certainly they are tough. Some of them are described as "beardies," others, simpliciter, as Hell. If you keep your ball straight you can get a bogey without undue difficulty, but the slightest deviation from the narrow path lands you into the middle of what look like acres of soft clinging sand. At this hole many of the leading lights said good-bye to their chances of carrying off the Daily Mail's prizes. Even the Americans, known universally as the Yanks, seemed to be mesmerised by those fearsome bunkers, and it was nothing unusual to see a famous player return an 8, or even a 9, on his card.

Roy Mundy was a case in point. He is a lovely golfer, with a perfect style and a tremendously long drive. But he found the bunkers at the Long Fourteenth, and, having found them, was reluctant to bid them farewell. As finally he hacked his ball back to the fairway I was constrained sympathetically to make the remark "sic transit gloria . . . ." A nearby caddy, disgusted at the American's failure, overheard me, and grunted: "Not much glory about that. Just plain bad golf!"

On the Road

But the gem of them all was the Road hole—the 17th. Somebody suggested that it should be re-named "Trinity Church," on the ground that so many people meet their doom there; and certainly it proved a sore stumbling block for most of the tournament players. It is 466 yards in length. A complete dog's leg, it is played by the ordinary performer, such as you or I, in the orthodox way—a longish drive down the middle, a right-angled turn, and then two more shots to the green. That is, of course, in theory.

The good players ignore the dog's leg, driving obliquely over a series of high railway sheds, to reach the fairway—if they are lucky—possibly less than two hundred yards from the flag. Then the fun begins. For a professional, even for a reasonably good amateur, it is not particularly difficult to reach the green in a single shot. Par for the hole is 5, and, after sixteen holes of varying golf, the temptation to snatch a stroke from the relentless old Colonel here must be great.

And so, indeed, it proved to be. Both in practice rounds and in the competition, I saw literally scores of first-class golfers come to grief at this Road hole, because they chose to ignore, or despise, the famous road. The position, roughly, is this: The green slopes slightly towards you as you play your approach. Immediately behind it is the road, with its two footpaths and carriageway—a common or garden public road, which normally carries a fair amount of traffic. During the competition there was heavy rain, which filled the substantial number of pot-holes in the carriageway; and, when you realise that the road is treated as an ordinary hazard, in which your club may not be grounded, you will begin to see the cause of so many disasters.

Disaster

The big hitter is tempted and falls. He has a start at reaching the green in two, and does so—too successfully—with the result that his ball comes to rest in a nicely filled pot-hole. Smash! with a No. 8—a shower of water, a badly scored club, but no appreciable change in the position of the ball. Another smash, possibly, even probably, with the same result, and then the most evenly balanced temper collapses. On to the green at last, in four, five, six, or even seven shots—I saw one man take 14 to this hole—but even then your troubles are not over, because unless you have been able to put terrific stop in your ball, which is not easy when playing out of a water-filled pot-hole in a tarmac road, you find it trickling down the green in the opposite direction to find haven in a series of nicely placed sand bunkers.

Yes, the Road Hole certainly deserves its reputation.

Another Test

One other hole, not quite so frightening as the three I have described, deserves individual mention. It is the short eleventh, a really gorgeous little one-shot hole (170 yards). It, too, gave even the top-notchers quite a deal of trouble. To begin with, of course, it is heavily bunkered; nearly all the holes on the Old Course are. But it has a further difficulty. The green slopes steeply from left to right, as well as from back to front, with the inevitable result that the most perfectly judged shot in respect of distance, if it pitches to the left of the flag leaves you with a down-hill, doubly sloping putt which may end up anywhere. Harry Bradshaw had a grand two at this hole, because he was able to judge his shot so well that the ball fell dead about ten yards to the right of the hole, giving the Irish crack a chance to bang it right into the back of the tin with customary Bradshavian nonchalance.

Great Greens

So much for the hardships of St. Andrews. For the rest, it must be admitted that the Old Course is probably the finest of its kind in the world. It is kept in magnificent condition—so much so, indeed, that one of our Irish professionals admitted to me that the fairways in general compared not unfavourably with many of our greens in this country.

As for the greens, they are unique. To begin with, they are tremendously big. One might describe them as kolossal! Then they are cut so close that they are even smoother than the average bowling green in Scotland; and that is saying a lot. Several of them are double greens—that is to say, they are used for holes both on the outward and on the inward journey, having two widely separated flags, with the result that, unless your pitch is unusually accurate, you may find yourself with a putt of seventy or eighty yards to get near the hole! This feature of the greens admittedly put many of the players off. Finally, they are nearly all undulating in varying degrees of wariness. Not one of them is really flat as so many Irish greens are flat, and most of our team found them almost impossible to negotiate.

Harry Bradshaw

Why did Harry Bradshaw not win? I watched nearly all the stars in their glory, and I am still prepared to assert what I asserted to George Duncan that Harry is, at least, as good a golfer as the best of them. I cannot vouch for the superb Henry Cotton, for I only saw him playing five indifferent shots, having kept the whole golfing world on tenterhooks for days, and then setting out for the first tee watched by an admiring throng, to be followed post-haste by a telegraph boy, who handed Cotton a telegram, which he shoved into his pocket without even looking at it. Then, when ultimately he did reach the green, he picked up his ball.

The trouble with Bradshaw was that he just could not sink his short putts. As a disgusted spectator said on one occasion: "I could miss that one myself!" And so could I! Imagine Harry missing five single yard putts at five consecutive holes, and there you have the secret of his failure. Otherwise, he played what amounted to perfect golf.

Genius Loci

But taking it, by and large, what gets the visitor to St. Andrews down is the genius loci—the atmosphere of the place. One young Irish player told me that when he stood on the first tee he felt as if all the surrounding buildings were falling down on him. Another said that he felt as he had felt when, for the first time, he stood on the threshold of Westminster Abbey!

The atmosphere really is overwhelming. Your caddy—Harry Bradshaw's was an elderly man, about ten years older than Ned, his father, but he insisted on calling the old boy "Sonny!"—will be careful to point out the bunkers in which Bobby Jones, Walter Hagen, and all the rest of the legendary figures of Open championship golf, tore up their cards on historic occasions, and that sort of thing is not calculated to inspire the visiting competitor with confidence in his own game.

And, of course, one must have the big match temperament to overcome the effects of the crowds, the white-coated stewards, and all the other paraphernalia of the R. and A.'s organisation. Harry Bradshaw, undoubtedly, has that temperament in excelsis; but I think he was just a wee littie shook, as they say on Tyneside, when, having hit a peach of a drive over a series of sand hills, he and his partner, Jack O'Neill, of Howth, arrived on the scene to find two stalwart Jack Tars standing stiffly at attention on guard over the two balls. Harry and Jack looked as if they did not knowing whether to salute them or give them a tip!

Bright News Scores In Smashing Style

By Our Racing Correspondent

HUGE fields and rousing finishes made for very exciting racing at Phœnix Park on Saturday. A week ago Linaria had trounced the much-heralded colt, Bright News, at the Curragh, and now, over a shorter distance of ground, she was fully expected to repeat that performance in the valuable Maher Plate. The result, however, was just one of the many setbacks backers experienced during the afternoon.

Sure enough, Linaria jumped off like lightning, and for four furlongs she dominated the race. She was travelling very fast, and though Campaigner, on the far side, and Bright News, Arabian Night and Some Treasure, on the stand rails, were tracking her doggedly, none of them looked like coming to grips with her.

ELECTRIFYING DASH.

Then it became evident that the apprentice, P. Powell, jun., carefully nursing Bright News, had something up his sleeve. He had his mount beautifully balanced, and very smoothly he asked him for his effort. The result was electrifying.

In a few strides the race took on a very different complexion. Bright News gained hand over fist on Linaria, sailed past her, and left her to all intents and purposes standing still. He won like a very fast two-year-old, indeed.

He is a full-brother to this year's Irish 2,000 gns. winner, Stalino, and half-brother to the Irish Cambridgeshire winner, King Kling, and the Panorama yearling, which made a record price at Ballsbridge this year.

Bright News cost Mr. McVey 1,300 gns. as a yearling. This is what his trainer, E. T. O'Sullivan, told me about him after the race: "I have never trained Bright News very seriously. He is a first-class colt and will, I think, win a classic race next year."

THRILLING FINISH

Mr. McVey also won the handicap sprint race with the three-year-old Sartorial, another son of Stardust and a half-brother to the recent two-year-old winner at Newmarket, Prestwick. Sartorial was ridden with untiring determination by W. Howard. He took the lead from flagfall, and when Hyrcania and Panastrid ranged up on either side of him below the distance he spurted ahead again under the whip. There followed a tremendous struggle. The weight told on Panastrid, but neither of the other two would give in, and they passed the post almost—but not quite—locked together.

Earlier in the day, Howard had won the maiden two-year-old race on Lord Fingall's grey filly Dunree.

A striking colt, named The Bug, was backed to win a great deal of money here, and for a long way he looked to be galloping over the rest of the field. At the distance, however, he sprawled slightly and, Dunree, staying home as straight as a die, wore him down to win, all out, by half a length. She is the first winner in Ireland by the well-bred horse, Lighthouse II.

FAVOURITE GETS THERE.

The "nursery" was a very thrilling affair. Signalman and Dulcinea swapped the early running on opposite sides of the course, but after two furlongs the blinkered Golden Fay, from the same stable as The Bug, raced into the lead.

She was moving very freely, and until the last few strides she promised to hold on to that lead. Then the favourite, Low Signal, hard driven by Wells, drew level with her, and with a last desperate effort forced his way past her at the critical moment.

The Bahram four-year-old, Bahara, proved the old adage "the greater the field, the greater the certainty," in the Whitehall Plate. Below the distance he shot through between the pacemaker, Creggmore Boy, and Count Gabriel and overcame Dasmar in a short, sharp tussle. He is yet another addition to the long list of winners sent out by Captain Rogers this year.

Nothing could match the lightly-weighed Fan go Foil's burst of speed in the final stages of the handicap run over ten furlongs. With Duffy keeping him going, he won as he liked by no less than ten lengths.

City Cup For Cork: Bohemians Miss Vital Penalty

BOHEMIANS.. 2 CORK UTD... 2

A MISSED penalty lost Bohemians a great chance of scoring a surprise win against Cork United at Dalymount Park yesterday, when Cork gained the one point necessary to assure them of winning the City Cup.

After 25 minutes of the second half, when Cork led 2-1, Smith was taken down in the penalty area. Ratcliffe shot the resulting penalty into Foley's arms, but Cork may count themselves rather lucky that the kick was not given again, for Foley seemed to be moving around as the ball was kicked.

Cork played delightful soccer till they got a lead of two goals, and then, lapsing into low gear, they were almost surprised into defeat through two lucky goals by a Bohemians' team which played much inferior football.

During the period of their ascendancy, the Cork front line played with great understanding and sense of position. O'Leary, a masterly leader, found his deft touches made good use of by Forde and Moroney, while Madden, in clever partnership with Forde, was exceptionally dangerous whenever he got possession.

McCarthy and O'Driscoll saw to it that the line was well supplied with the ball, though O'Driscoll was a little inclined to misplace his passes. In the defence, Hayes was here, there and everywhere to deal with Bohemian raids.

The Bohemians' defence presented a shaky front to Cork's dashing forward play in the early stages, but Conroy later settled down to play a sound, steady game. Glennon did a great deal of useful work, but Richardson was far from his best all through. Nash was the best of the wing halves.

The home front line was poor in the extreme. Morris put in a few clever touches, and Smith worked hard, but the opposing defence was consistently given time to get into position, and there was not a shot in the line in the early stages.

When Glennon went centre forward early in the second half, things went better, but it was enthusiasm more than skill which went to bring the two goals.

Cork opened their account after eight minutes through O'Leary, who received from Madden, turned on the ball, and shot as quick as lightning. Feehan, taken by surprise, let the ball go through his hands for a goal. Ten minutes later, O'Leary headed O'Driscoll's free on to Moroney's toe, and slackness in the Bohemians' defence gave him plenty of time to score.

After 20 minutes in the second half, Glennon's shot hit the bar, rebounded, and went in off Hayes. Five minutes later came the missed penalty. Just before the end the equaliser came. Glennon lobbed the ball in and followed up, and Foley, coming out, kicked the ball against him, and it went into the net.

Gate receipts were £610.

Title For Meath

By PAT'O.

MEATH 1-7 (10) CARLOW 2-3 (9)

BEFORE a big attendance at Croke Park yesterday Meath retained the Leinster Gaelic Football League, despite a grand rally by Carlow in the second half, when two penalties were saved by Kevin Smith in the Meath goal.

Pressing steadily in the first half, Meath searched hard for scores. Farrell saved well, and Quinlin, in goal, cleared from a fast drive by Meegan. Donnelly placed Halpenny from the resulting 50, and a fast shot brought Meath's first goal. There were many frees for breaches of the hand-passing rule. Frankie Byrne shot two points for Meath from frees; Donnelly and the O'Brien pair were busy for Meath before Morris parted out to Hosey, who was barely wide of the posts for Carlow.

O'Sullivan opened Carlow's scoring with a point from 50 yards. Smith brought off a great save from Sullivan when Doyle was fouled in the area. Meath (holders) had the better of the first half, leading by 1-3 to 0-1 at the interval.

F. Byrne was the star of Meath's attack, and he stretched Meath's lead with two placed goals. McDermott sent Meath further ahead. Doyle's brace of points raised Carlow's hopes, and they staged a powerful recovery. Forcing a penalty, Sullivan shot straight at Smith, who cleared.

Keeping up the pace, Rea placed M. Byrne for a rushed Carlow goal. Smith saved another penalty, but M. Byrne, last to receive, goaled for Carlow to balance at 9 points each. Frank Byrne, from a free, swung over the winning Meath point.

Clontarf In Form

Clontarf ... 13 Bective Rangers .. 0

Clontarf, with 13 men from before half-time, had little trouble in beating a Bective team which differed a good deal from the one selected, by 2 goals and a try to nothing, at Donnybrook.

The six Clontarf forwards easily held their own in the scrums, and in the loose were much more purposeful, while the backs, if handling clumsily, had F. G. Moran proving that he still has considerable pace, and B. Mullan using his own brand of attack effectively. Nearly all the forwards played well, with T. Headon showing particularly good form.

Bective played spiritedly, and had as much of the attack, but their efforts were haphazard in the extreme. B. Keogh was very steady under pressure at full-back, and another Greystones man, S. Magee (a "sub" wing), bowled over much heavier opponents in great style, and showed general aptitude.

M. Forde was a great trier at stand-off. J. Guiney's speed about the field and tackling were a considerable factor in defence, and G. Prenderville and K. O'Brien (late in the game) were other good Bective forwards.

J. Guiney and O. Palcic (2) got the tries: Moran having a great deal to do with the latter's two. Mullan twice converted, and hit the posts with the other shot.

ST. MARY'S WIN WELL

St. Mary's College 21 pts. Old Wesley 3 pts.

The meeting of St. Mary's and Old Wesley at Kimmage Grove provided a bright and interesting game, St. Mary's winning by 3 dropped goals and 3 tries to a penalty goal. St Mary's merited their victory, though the margin flattered them.

In the early stages, and for a good portion of the second half, Old Wesley attacked, but their passing, though fast and nippy, usually broke down at the critical moment.

St. Mary's forwards stayed better than those of Old Wesley, and gave a greatly improved display on their form of the previous Saturday.

Early in the first half, after a strong attack on St. Mary's line, Carry landed a penalty for Old Wesley. Then Norton dropped a goal for St. Mary's, and Coveney followed suit with another from the 25. Bergin and McGaurin scored unconverted tries fot St. Mary's.

In the second half McGaurin dropped a goal and scored an uncoverted try for the home side.

QUINN'S GREAT RUN

Old Belvedere .... 10 pts. Monkstown .. 0

A grand score by B. Quinn, who ran practically the entire length of the field to outpace the opposition and ground the ball under the posts, laid the foundation of Old Belvedere's victory over Monkstown at Sydney Parade on Saturday.

Some of the cup-holders' "regulars" were missing, but they played some attractive football, even if they were a bit lucky to keep their line intact. Quickness to see and seize openings was the deciding factor in their success by two goals to nil.

B. Quinn got both scores and was a constant danger to the Monkstown defence, while Dixon and G. Quinn were others to show enterprise. The Belvedere backs all round, however, were not moving with their customary smoothness, and the absence of K. Quinn may have had something to do with this.

Monkstown, who had plenty of scoring chances but could do nothing with them were best served at forward, with Franklin and Ganly outstanding.

Quinn's run, starting near his own line and culminating in a grand try, came soon after the start, and he scored again before half-time, Dixon and G. Quinn cutting out the opening. Thorpe converted both tries.

PALMERSTON BEATEN

Wanderers .... 11 pts. Palmerston .. 0

Though their forwards, of whom Merrey, Hingerty and Mulrooney were particularly prominent, contrived to secure almost a monopoly of the ball from both tight and loose scrums, the Palmerston backs never looked like scoring, and Wanderers were comparatively easy winners by two goals (1 penalty) and a try to nil at Clonskeagh on Saturday.

The Wanderers backs, with a very poor service of the ball, shaped far better, and Booker and Myles both ran well, the former, with Robertson, combining in a clever piece of play, which brought about a score.

After half-time two Wanderers players, Sheriff and Murray, and one Palmerston player, Acton, had to retire injured.

A penalty goal by Mattson and a try by Booker were the scores in the first half, and a try by Myles, which Robertson converted, after the interval completed the scoring.

PORTMARNOCK DINNER

Portmarnock had schemes for next year, which they hoped would fructify, and thus regain for the club its rightful place in Irish golf, said Mr. Seumas O'Connor, a past captain, in proposing the toast of the captain, Mr. Eddie Spratt, at the dinner of the Portmarnock club on Saturday night.

Mr. Spratt, responding, said that there was a probability—a certainty—that next year the Irish Open Championship would be held at Portmarnock, the best course in Europe. He paid a tribute to the wonderful work done for the club during its period of difficulty and trouble by their honorary secretary, Mr. William Gill.

Dr. Lorcan G. Sherlock, Chairman of the Leinster Branch of the G.U.I., suggested that the Irish Tourist Board should organise a big tournament at Killarney or Portmarnock; such a tournament would bring them an immense return by way of advertisement and publicity.

He referred to the recent tournament at St. Andrews, and the good showing made by the Irish professionals. The Golfing Union and the clubs had during the war put up about £1,000 a year in prize money for the professionals, who, he said, would have to settle down to hard work and practice if they hoped to hold their own in the big tournaments of the future.

LUCAN'S HALF-CENTURY

Attendance at the captain's dinner at Lucan Golf Club on Saturday night broke all previous records. The occasion marked the completion of 50 years for which the club has been in existence. Guests included Mr. T. P. Toher, President of the G.U.I.; Mr. M. de Lacey, captain of Hermitage; Mr. J. Downey, captain of Sutton; Mr. J. Kennedy and Mr. P. Fahy, hon. secretary and hon. treasurer of Hermitage, and Dr. G. P. Sheehan, President of Lucan.

PHŒNIX PARK FREE FORECAST

There were 61 correct forecasts in the last race at Phœnix Park on Saturday, and each of the successful entrants will receive a cheque for £1 in due course.

ROVERS WIN THRILLER AT LIMERICK

LIMERICK.... 4 SHAMROCK R. 6

A HUGE crowd at Markets' Field, Limerick, yesterday saw Shamrock Rovers score a thrilling win over Limerick in the Dublin City Cup by 6 goals to 4. The game was studded with incident, particularly in the first half and the early stages of the second.

Up to this time the lead was changing hands more freely than money at a fair, and the crowd were in a frenzy of excitement, as the ball switched from end to end, and goal after goal was slammed in. Ten goals more than compensated the ardent Limerick supporters, who had not seen a decent game at their home venue this season, for the defeat of their side.

The home team were much the better side in the first half, when they had the visitors defence in a state of confusion. After being twice in arrears they fought back splendidly to level matters.

Until fifteen minutes after the interval the hearts of the home supporters bounded expectantly, but then disaster happened as Rovers slammed in two somewhat lucky goals in five minutes. After this reverse Limerick could do nothing right.

Rovers' attack played copy-book football, and had the homesters at sixes and sevens for the remainder of the game. The timely passing of the winners in general was delightful to watch, and Limerick were a hundred per cent. improved, giving their best exhibition so far.

Reddick was a brilliant half-back, and was mainly responsible for partly subduing Rovers crack right-wing pair. Quinlivan, who only recently lost his junior status, gave a good exhibition.

Barlow, on the right wing, had a grand game, his deft touches and delightful passes were a treat.

COCHRANE'S THREE

In attack Coad, McAlinden and Cochrane were a perfect combination for Rovers, and the latter crowned a glorious display by scoring half of his side's total. After four minutes Keane was penalised, and Coad put his side in front. From the centre Limerick broke away, and Barlow put his side on level terms. A thrilling passage ensued, with both ends in grave danger before Coad put his side ahead again in the 25th minute.

Four minutes later, Byrne equalised with a good shot from about 20 yards out, and in the 40th minute D'Arcy dashed in to finish off a grand movement by Tommy Byrne, and put Limerick in front for the first time. Two minutes before the interval Coad scored, but was whistled for offside, and a minute later Cochrane sent a good shot between Webb's legs.

Immediately after the resumption McAlinden restored the lead for Rovers, and then D'Arcy equalised. In the 16th minute Cochrane connected from a free and gave Webb no chance, and the same player added Rovers' sixth five minutes later.

Four Goals For R. Walker

Y.M.C.A. ...... 5 Three Rock Rovers 3

In beating Three Rock Rovers by 5 goals to 3 in a club hockey match at Londonbridge road on Saturday, Y.M.C.A., who were much the faster side, owed a great deal to R. Walker, who scored four goals. Their two wing forwards, Hussey and Andrews, also contributed greatly to the victory, while D. Medcalf at full back was very steady.

Luce and Haughton were the best of Rovers' forwards, but none of the defence was impressive.

R. Walker opened the scoring for Y.M.C.A., and then Haughton equalised. R. Walker added two more goals in the first half. After the interval Luce and Haughton scored for Rovers, but R. Walker and L. Walker added another two for Y.M.C.A.

Dalkey .... 4 Avoca 1

Dalkey, not at full strength, did quite well in beating Avoca 4-1 at Templeogue.

Avoca made a stiff fight until the last quarter, when an injury to Matheson, after he had scored a brilliant goal to reduce Dalkey's lead to 2-1, depleted their ranks, and they were well beaten in the end.

The success of the Dalkey side was Willoby (right-half), who played schools' hockey for Mountjoy a couple of seasons ago. Their defence got through a lot of work effectively, while Butler, H. Richardson, and B. Huet were fast, thrustful forwards.

Avoca, fairly strong in defence, were weak in attack.

B. Huet and H. Richardson gave Dalkey a flattering 2-0 interval lead. Matheson reduced the lead with a rising shot from the edge of the circle, but further scores by B. Huet (following pen. corner) and Butler decided the game.

Setting the Ball Rolling

Somewhat unexpectedly, the first horse to leave Ireland and win in England since the ban on Irish horses racing in England was lifted was the five-year-old gelding Clemenceau. Over here he was owned by Mr. John Byrne and trained by M. Murphy. In all he ran in 22 races, was placed three times, and won once.

His sole success came at Naas in March this year, when he carried off a mile and a half handicap hurdle race under a very light weight. The last time he ran in this country was at Galway, and there he fell in another handicap hurdle race. Shortly afterwards he was sold at Ballsbridge to Mr. J. A. Farrell for 200 guineas.

On Saturday he made his first appearance on an English racecourse. At Brighton he came out for a handicap, run over a mile and three-quarters, and, starting at 100/6, he beat the raging favourite, Gilpin, and seven others very easily. He raced in Mr. C. B. Rendall's colours.

By Scarlet Tiger, Clemenceau was the first foal from French Gold, which mare won two races for Sir James Nelson. She was by Beaudelaire, out of the winner and winner producer, Rhinegold by Sunstar. It is noteworthy that the Hon. H. G. Wellesley secured a half-brother to Clemenceau at the recent yearling sales for 170 gns. This yearling cost Lord Fingall 220 gns. as a foal.

TITLE FOR ANTRIM

Antrim .... 5-2 Waterford 3-2

The All-Ireland camogie final, between Antrim and Waterford, attracted a record attendance in the Cappoquin Sports Field yesterday in ideal weather.

During the first half remarkable speed and stamina were displayed by both teams, but Antrim showed better combination, and the half-time score found them level at 2-2 each, with a disallowed goal for Antrim.

Antrim showed up to better advantage in the second half, and kept the Waterford defenders under great pressure, in the course of which several marvellous saves were effected by K. Flynn, the Waterford goalie. The Northern girls continued to hold the mastery, and were deserving winners of a brilliant game on the final score of 5-2 to 3-2.

BOWLING RESULTS

Leinster .... 79 Kenilworth 61

Although Kenilworth lost the final League game of the season, going under to Leinster by 18 shots at Grosvenor square, they have won the Senior League championship by one point.

KENILWORTH CHAMPIONSHIP

P. Nevin won the single-handed championship of the Kenilworth Club, defeating H. Simms 21-17.

HOLLYWOOD DERBY

Mr. Louis B. Mayer's three-year-old filly, Busher (War Admiral—Baby League), took her earnings to $316,590 (nearly £80,000) by winning the Hollywood Derby on Saturday. The film magnate's filly, who now takes tenth place among the record money winning horses of all time, covered the mile and one furlong in 1 min. 50 1-5 secs. Starting at odds on favourite, she won the $12,000 prize for three-year-olds.

MCMAHON STARS

Shelbourne ...... 2 Waterford 1

Though they did not impress as an effective combination, Shelbourne had enough of the play to ensure a more decisive win than the odd goal of three against Waterford at Shelbourne Park on Saturday.

That they did not finish further in front was due in part to the inability of their disappointing front line to overcome determined resistance by the opposing defence, and in part to two great saves by McMahon.

The visitors' goalkeeper, at the cost of injury, on each occasion, saved his goal twice when scores seemed certain. After the second save, 25 minutes from the end, he was carried off injured. Hetherington, centre-forward, took his place in goal.

Hartrey and Phelan did sterling work in breaking up the efforts of the Shelbourne attack, which played with little understanding and drive. Gannon was a tireless worker for the winners, whose defence, with Kinsella prominent, proved adequate to deal with all but one of the few dangerous-looking Waterford raids.

Just before half-time Hill took McCormack's pass to open the scoring for Shelbourne, and when the centre-forward was taken down in the box in the 14th minute of the second half, Hill converted the spot kick. Three minutes from the end Sergeant shot, the ball was deflected off Olphert, and Muldowney let it into the net through his hands.

DRUMCONDRA SPARKLE

Dundalk .... 1 Drumcondra 4

Drumcondra shone in their game with Dundalk in the City Cup yesterday at Dundalk, which they won 4-1. At no stage of the game was their much likelihood of a win for Dundalk, who sadly disappointed their supporters in their second home match of the season.

Drums were superior in all departments, but it was in the two sets of forwards that the difference between the teams was most marked. Whereas Drums' forwards worked smoothly and methodically right from the start, Dundalk's line was disjointed.

Private J. Johnstone, introduced at centre-forward, was completely out of the game, and Dundalk's only forward of note was Douglas. The Dundalk defence, which has had a good record so far, was hard put to watch the speedy movements worked out by all five of Drums' forwards, and Miller was frequently beaten for speed by the fleet Lawlor-Ward wing.

Joe Donnelly, who returned to the right-half position, was useful, but slow.

Daly and McCormick were the mainspring of a lively Drums' forward line, in which the speed of Delaney and Ward on the wings carried constant menace to the Dundalk defence.

After half an hour's play, Lawlor scored twice for Drums inside two minutes. Five minutes after the interval Ward beat Miller and crossed for Delaney to shoot Drums' third from short range. A shrewd pass by Douglas put Stirling through to score for Dundalk, but after thirty minutes McCormick put on Drums' fourth when he picked up a loose ball and snapped in a surprise shot.

MOTOR CYCLE RACES

THANKS to the enterprise of the local Amusements Committee and the Ards Motor Cycle Club, Bangor (Co. Down) promises to become one of the chief centres of motor-cycling sport in Ireland. On Saturday the third of the series of races held under the joint auspices of these two bodies was held in the Castle grounds, when five grass track events were brought to issue.

Although the attendance was not so big as at the earlier meetings, the "gate" more than covered the £25 offered as prizes. All of the races were run over a circuit of 500 yards, which was covered fifteen times, giving a course of approximately four-and-a-quarter miles.

None of the scratchmen used the fast machines they rode in the road circuit races and in the Ulster "100"; and in the final race of the afternoon, confined to the first and second men in the first four events and the fastest timers in each, the best time was done by W. Nicholson (B.S.A.), who was in receipt of a handicap.

Results:—Fifteen Laps Handicap—A. J. Bell (Triumph), scr., 1; W. Nicholson (B.S.A.), 1m. 45s., 2; S. B. Gifford (Velocette), 1m. 30s., 3. 10m. 5s. Fifteen Laps Handicap—A. J. McFarlane (Triumph), 45s., 1; W. Todd (Triumph), 1m. 15s., 2; R. T. Hill (B.S.A.), scr., 3. 10m. 29s. Fifteen Laps Handicap—N. C. Stewart (B.S.A.), 1m., 1; B. M. Graham (B.S.A.), 1m., 2; R. T. Mathews (Rudge), 1m., 3. 10m. 8s.

Fifteen Laps Handicap—S. Russell (Matchless), 30s., 1; V. Cook (B.S.A.), 2; W. A. C. McCandless (Triumph), scr., 3. 9m. 58s. Fifteen Laps (Bedford Cup—Winners of above and fastest timers)—N. G. Stewart, 1; B. M. Graham, 2; W. Todd, 3. 13m. 20s. Fastest time, W. Nicholson, 12m. 11s.

TROTTING

While leading in the final of the First Class Mile Handicap event at the All-Ireland Trotting Association's meeting at Raheny yesterday Mr P. J. Headon's Silver Jubilee stopped at the paddock, as he had done on a previous occasion. He could not be induced to start again, and Mr. T. Breslin's Scottish Queen won the event from Field Marshal M.

It is expected that the Scottish horse, Hurricane, undisputed champion of Great Britain, will compete at Raheny next month. He is being brought over to race in a £100 stake at Ballymena on October 22nd, and efforts are being made to bring him here.

Yesterday's details were:—

One Mile H'cap, 1st Class—Mr. T. Breslin's Scottish Queen (minus 260 yds.), Mr. J. Breslin, jun., 1; Mr. J Griffin's Field Marshal M. (minus 280 yds.), Owner, 2; Mr. T. Quinn's Minnie G. (minus 260 yds.), Mr. T. Quinn, jun., 3. 2l.; 3l. 3 mins. 9 4-5 secs. 8 competed.

One Mile H'cap, 2nd Class—Mr. T. Quinn's Sunbeam II (minus 365 yds.), Owner, 1; Mr. J. Gray's Take A Chance (minus 100 yds.), Owner, 2; Mr. T. J. Horan's May (scr.), Mr. L. Murphy, 3. 1l.; 2l. 3 mins. 34 secs. 15 competed.

VOTE OF SYMPATHY

Wanderers R.F.C.—At the general meeting on September 29th a vote of sympathy was passed with Mrs. Coffey and the relatives of the late Mr. Jack Coffey, hon. secretary, Lansdowne R.F.C.

RICHEST U.S. RACE

Star Pilot, starting at odds-on, won the Belmont Futurity, the richest race in the U.S. for two-year-olds, and worth $74,630 (over £18,500), on Saturday. He covered the six and a half furlongs in 1 minute 17 1-5 secs.—(Reuter.)

FILM NOTES

By Our Cinema Correspondent

MAMMOTH films are rapidly becoming the rule rather than the exception. Quality is being sacrificed wholesale for the sake of quantity—if a film runs for two hours or more, if a few thousand extra players are employed, if the staging is as elaborate and complicated as possible, and if the whole production costs a few hundred thousand dollars more than its predecessors, such details as original plots, good acting and sincere characterisation, seemingly, can be neglected.

There are two films this week with running times of, approximately, two hours—neither has much more than sheer bulk to recommend it. Stage Door Canteen (Savoy), for all its two hours, appears to rush along at a bewildering speed, only pausing now and then to unload a generous portion of sentiment. The atmosphere of speed is suggested because of the number of stage, radio and screen personalities—about fifty in all—who have been crowded into it. Some, in entertaining the Service men at the canteen, amuse us, too, but most are whisked away before they had time to do either. As the screen is perpetually overcrowded, so is the sound-track—there are no less than six dance bands; perhaps we should be thankful that they perform one by one, and not all together. The very flimsy story concerns a few soldiers who spend a couple of nights at the canteen, being entertained, and falling in love, before sailing for Europe. The most acceptable of the many minutes taken up by the film are those utilised by Gracie Fields, Yehudi Menuhin and Edgar Bergen with Charlie McCarthy.

The Man From Morocco (Adelphi) also takes about two hours to say all that it has to say, which, unfortunately, is not as much as it first promises. This film is a curious mixture of good and bad—there are some highly effective scenes, but the interest which they arouse is shattered when the more romantic or dramatic moments are reached and we are treated to unashamed "ham" acting. Some of Anton Walbrook's noble speeches to his heroine (Margaretta Scott) might have been taken direct from an old-time melodrama; the unnaturally vehement manner in which he deals with the villain is suggestive of the same source, and, to cap it all, the villain actually strokes his moustache before trying to force his charms on Miss Scott. Condensed by about half, the film might have been good. It deals with the adventures of a remnant of the International Brigade who, after the Spanish Civil War, become political prisoners and are sent to the Sahara to work for the Germans. To steal the acting honours is not a difficult task and is accomplished by Peter Sinclair as a genial Scot.

After two such endurance tests, a film which lasted only an hour and a half is a relief, and more important, very few of those ninety-odd minutes are wasted on sentiment or spectacle. Immortal Sergeant (Theatre Royal) sets out to show the effect of war on men in the most simple and straightforward way. To illustrate his theme, the director, John Stahl, has chosen two widely-opposed characters and sent them out into the Libyan desert in charge of a patrol. One is a sergeant who has seen service in World War 1 and who has the happy knack of being able to inspire his men with his own courage. The other is a corporal, too timid and self-effacing to assert himself until circumstances force him to take command and lead the much-reduced patrol to safety. The film is remarkable for its sincerity and for the quiet and convincing way in which it transferred the deathless courage of the sergeant to the highly-strung corporal. Thomas Mitchell and Henry Fonda are admirable in their respective rôles.

Weird and wonderful machines which cannot have seen the light of day since Count Frankenstein went out of business are put to use again by Nazi saboteurs in The Black Commando (Carlton). What the story lacks in originality it makes up in excitement and thrills. Rarely before have so many secret panels and sliding walls been used in one film. In all his experience of similar rôles it is doubtful if Paul Kelly was ever before asked to fight, single-handed, so many people, so often. He survives it all and gets the girl, who, as you may have guessed, is a newspaper woman.

The development of an American bombsight is the basis of Bombardier (Green), in which Pat O'Brien and Randolph Scott really do a bit of acting.

A Yank in the R.A.F. (Tyrone Power, Betty Grable), which for four days escaped the Censor's keen eye at the Savoy some time ago, returns this week to the Corinthian for the benefit of those who were disappointed by its summary removal. It is still as good as it was then.

AT OTHER CINEMAS

No New Baths Scheme For Dun Laoghaire

A scheme for providing modern swimming baths for Sandycove, County Dublin, at an estimated cost of £108,000, was considered at a special meeting of the General Purposes Committee of Dun Laoghaire Corporation. It is claimed that, if adopted, it would put Dun Laoghaire in the forefront of Irish watering places.

In the event of this scheme being adopted, the baths at Windsor terrace would become obsolete, and would be scrapped. The baths at Sandycove would cost £700 to improve. The new scheme as at present drafted did not provide for the covering over of the swimming pools, nor for the heating of the water.

After the scheme was discussed at some length, the Committee declared that the Council was not in a position to decide; that the Manager should prepare a scheme for the completion of the sea-wall; that the existing baths must be used for some years, and the Corporation should improve them.

G.B. SALE OF WORK

The Dublin Battalion of the Girls' Brigade held a sale of work in aid of the Brigade Camp House on Saturday afternoon at the Mansion House. In addition to the stalls, there were musical and dance numbers by the 1st, 4th, 11th and 12th companies of the battalion. The sale was opened by Mrs. G. W. Shannon, and Alderman E. F. Benson was in the chair. The attendance included the Archbishop of Dublin and Mrs. Barton and the Dean of Christ Church Cathedral and Mrs. Lewis-Crosby.

BAD LEG HEALED

Grateful Essex lady writes

I think it only right to let you know how much benefit I have received by using your wonderful ointment. After ten years of acute suffering and hospital treatment my ulcerated leg has completely healed after a month's treatment with Valderma ointment.

Signed .... Mrs. W.

Approved by Specialists

Eczema, Dermatitis, Boils, Rashes, Pimples and other common skin diseases yield quickly to Valderma's 'double-antiseptic' healing action. This modern balm is different. It has an oil-in-water emulsion base — this is an enormous step forward in medical science. Firstly, because it allows poisonous matter to pass away, preventing risk of re-infection. Secondly, Valderma's two antiseptics (each deadly to separate groups of bacteria) can reach the root of infection instantly. Irritation disappears with the refreshing, slightly tingly sensation you get at first when you apply Valderma — a sure sign that its double-antiseptic action has started to work.

Powerful, yet soothing, Valderma is prescribed by Skin Specialists for many serious skin diseases. Hospital and Laboratory tested; white, non-staining, creamy yet non-greasy, and agreeable to use, Valderma quickly heals cuts and abrasions too.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE

without Calomel and you'll jump out of bed in the morning full of vim and vigour. The liver should pour out two pints of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk, and the world looks punk.

Laxative helps a little, but a mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pints of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Stubbornly refuse anything else. 1/3 and 3/-.

FILM NOTES

By Our Cinema Correspondent

MAMMOTH films are rapidly becoming the rule rather than the exception. Quality is being sacrificed wholesale for the sake of quantity—if a film runs for two hours or more, if a few thousand extra players are employed, if the staging is as elaborate and complicated as possible, and if the whole production costs a few hundred thousand dollars more than its predecessors, such details as original plots, good acting and sincere characterisation, seemingly, can be neglected.

There are two films this week with running times of, approximately, two hours—neither has much more than sheer bulk to recommend it. Stage Door Canteen (Savoy), for all its two hours, appears to rush along at a bewildering speed, only pausing now and then to unload a generous portion of sentiment. The atmosphere of speed is suggested because of the number of stage, radio and screen personalities—about fifty in all—who have been crowded into it. Some, in entertaining the Service men at the canteen, amuse us, too, but most are whisked away before they had time to do either. As the screen is perpetually overcrowded, so is the sound-track—there are no less than six dance bands; perhaps we should be thankful that they perform one by one, and not all together. The very flimsy story concerns a few soldiers who spend a couple of nights at the canteen, being entertained, and falling in love, before sailing for Europe. The most acceptable of the many minutes taken up by the film are those utilised by Gracie Fields, Yehudi Menuhin and Edgar Bergen with Charlie McCarthy.

The Man From Morocco (Adelphi) also takes about two hours to say all that it has to say, which, unfortunately, is not as much as it first promises. This film is a curious mixture of good and bad—there are some highly effective scenes, but the interest which they arouse is shattered when the more romantic or dramatic moments are reached and we are treated to unashamed "ham" acting. Some of Anton Walbrook's noble speeches to his heroine (Margaretta Scott) might have been taken direct from an old-time melodrama; the unnaturally vehement manner in which he deals with the villain is suggestive of the same source, and, to cap it all, the villain actually strokes his moustache before trying to force his charms on Miss Scott. Condensed by about half, the film might have been good. It deals with the adventures of a remnant of the International Brigade who, after the Spanish Civil War, become political prisoners and are sent to the Sahara to work for the Germans. To steal the acting honours is not a difficult task and is accomplished by Peter Sinclair as a genial Scot.

After two such endurance tests, a film which lasted only an hour and a half is a relief, and more important, very few of those ninety-odd minutes are wasted on sentiment or spectacle. Immortal Sergeant (Theatre Royal) sets out to show the effect of war on men in the most simple and straightforward way. To illustrate his theme, the director, John Stahl, has chosen two widely-opposed characters and sent them out into the Libyan desert in charge of a patrol. One is a sergeant who has seen service in World War 1 and who has the happy knack of being able to inspire his men with his own courage. The other is a corporal, too timid and self-effacing to assert himself until circumstances force him to take command and lead the much-reduced patrol to safety. The film is remarkable for its sincerity and for the quiet and convincing way in which it transferred the deathless courage of the sergeant to the highly-strung corporal. Thomas Mitchell and Henry Fonda are admirable in their respective rôles.

Weird and wonderful machines which cannot have seen the light of day since Count Frankenstein went out of business are put to use again by Nazi saboteurs in The Black Commando (Carlton). What the story lacks in originality it makes up in excitement and thrills. Rarely before have so many secret panels and sliding walls been used in one film. In all his experience of similar rôles it is doubtful if Paul Kelly was ever before asked to fight, single-handed, so many people, so often. He survives it all and gets the girl, who, as you may have guessed, is a newspaper woman.

The development of an American bombsight is the basis of Bombardier (Green), in which Pat O'Brien and Randolph Scott really do a bit of acting.

A Yank in the R.A.F. (Tyrone Power, Betty Grable), which for four days escaped the Censor's keen eye at the Savoy some time ago, returns this week to the Corinthian for the benefit of those who were disappointed by its summary removal. It is still as good as it was then.

No New Baths Scheme For Dun Laoghaire

A scheme for providing modern swimming baths for Sandycove, County Dublin, at an estimated cost of £108,000, was considered at a special meeting of the General Purposes Committee of Dun Laoghaire Corporation. It is claimed that, if adopted, it would put Dun Laoghaire in the forefront of Irish watering places.

In the event of this scheme being adopted, the baths at Windsor terrace would become obsolete, and would be scrapped. The baths at Sandycove would cost £700 to improve. The new scheme as at present drafted did not provide for the covering over of the swimming pools, nor for the heating of the water.

After the scheme was discussed at some length, the Committee declared that the Council was not in a position to decide; that the Manager should prepare a scheme for the completion of the sea-wall; that the existing baths must be used for some years, and the Corporation should improve them.

Interest Unabated in Irish Securities

THE outstanding feature on the Dublin Stock Exchange during the past week was the continued strong demand for Irish securities, which had the effect of pushing prices still further ahead in many cases. Most Irish Industrial companies did well during recent years, and the general belief is that they should continue to do well over the next few years.

IRISH CINEMAS

For some time past Irish Cinemas, Ltd., Ordinary were steadily supported up to 6/9. The most optimistic expectations were realised when the company last week announced an increase in the dividend from 3 to 5 per cent. The full figures for the year are not yet available, but, judging by this increase, the report should make an excellent showing. A year ago, when only 3 per cent. was distributed, earnings on these shares amounted to 14 per cent. All companies connected with amusements are enjoying excellent trading conditions, and the prospects are promising. These Ordinary shares still look attractive as a speculation. The 6 per cent. Preference shares are still available at 25/- and look reasonably valued in comparison with other Irish Industrial Preference issues.

Helys, Ltd., Ordinary shares are tightly held, but recently a small lot came on offer and fetched 75/-. This old-established concern has an excellent financial record, and since 1937 Ordinary shareholders regularly received a payment of 15 per cent. Last year earnings on these shares amounted to more than double this at 31 per cent. In addition to its main business of printers, publishers, etc., it manufactures a variety of sporting equipment, and this side of the company's business is believed to be a profitable one. At the current price, and on the basis of last year's dividend, the return for money is comparatively good, and they are a sound lock-up industrial holding.

Holders of E. and J. Burke, Ltd., issues gained very little information from the chairman's remarks at the annual general meeting. He gave no indication as to the factors responsible for the improvement in profits, nor did he venture to forecast the prospects. Yet there are some who feel that this company has now turned the corner, and that more prosperous times lie ahead. The 10/- Ord. shares advanced to 9/- on steady support, and this price carries the 5 p.c. dividend just announced.

Drapeies were busier than for some time past, and selective buying created one or two firm spots. During the emergency years all these companies did well, and all classes of stocks were readily disposed of. The chief difficulty was, of course, to replenish these stocks. It is felt that from now onwards conditions will be easier in this direction, and, with no material falling off in demand, they should enjoy excellent trading conditions during the next few years. Furthermore, until world conditions greatly improve we are not likely to see any severe competition or price-cutting.

The chairman at the half-yearly meeting of the Alliance and Dublin Consumers' Gas Co. said it was impossible to forecast when it would return to normal trading, and it was likely that the coming winter would be one of severe strain and anxiety. Yet, despite the grave fuel position in Great Britain, the company's profits during the past half-year expanded, and it was possible to increase the dividend. If one is in a position to take a longer view the Ord. shares, even at the present price of 24/3, look well worth attention. In pre-war years it had little difficulty in earning satisfactory profits, and was in a position to pay as much as 8 p.c. on its Ord. shares.

On Johannesburg Stock Exchange towards the week-end firm and active conditions prevailed, with a tendency for activity to further broaden. Optimism exists locally regarding the gold price increase engendered by London advances, while prospects of favourable taxation revision proposals in the next Budget are now regarded as good. There has been a tendency for investors to switch from the more speculative counters into better class shares.

Companies That Have Stood War Strain

From Our London Financial Correspondent

MANY investors are to-day giving careful consideration to their holdings in view of the new conditions which have arisen. The war is over but the peace promises to be somewhat strenuous while the advent of a Labour Government has introduced an element of uncertainty which may last for some years. It is all the more important, therefore, that investment should be solidly based on demonstrated efficiency of management and undoubted usefulness to the whole community. These, it is suggested, are to be found in some of the great companies which have succeeded in making good despite the strain and stress of the war years.

A notable instance of this class of investment is to be found in the shares of Imperial Chemical Industries, Ltd. This great concern with an issued capital of £74,479,552 enters in one form or another into almost every phase of the nations' industrial life. It has rendered immense services to the country throughout the war years in the results achieved by its large staff of research workers. At the same time, it has maintained at its many and varied works, much of its normal peace-time production. For each of the past seven years it has paid dividends totalling 8 per cent., a rate sufficiently moderate to appease even the severest critic of capitalism. To-day the £1 Ord. stock units can be bought for about 39s. 9d. to give a return of just over 4 per cent.

WOOLWORTHS AND BOOTS

Another company which has fully justified its existence is F. W. Woolworth and Co., Ltd., with an issued capital of £12,500,000. Despite the shortage of supplies, the depletion of staffs and the requisitioning of premises, it has maintained its organisation intact. Its finances are exceptionally strong, actual cash shown in the last balance sheet amounting to £8,215,995, thus giving it the power to take advantage of every relaxation in the restriction in supplies. Its freehold properties are valued in its balance-sheet at over £8,000,000. At to-day's valuation, they are probably worth three times that sum. Dividends have been reduced in the war years, but the recovery was begun last year, when the total rate was increased from 40 to 45 p.c. The £7,500,000 of Ord. stock is in 5/- units, quoted at 77/3.

A third company which can be relied on to make good is Boots Pure Drug Co., Ltd. As manufacturing chemists and as the controller of over 1,200 retail shops, this company holds an important position in the life of the people. Its finances are strong, and its earning power has been well maintained, and in the past two years has been increasing. Its issued capital is £3,000,000, including £1,600,000 in 5/- Ord. shares. These have a market value of 55/6. The dividend for the year to March 31st last was 32½ p.c.

HARLAND AND WOLFF

Since the publication of the report and accounts for 1944 by Harland and Wolff, Ltd., the £1 Ord stock units of the company have risen from about 17/- to 20/-. The dividend for the past year, it will be remembered, was raised from 6 p.c. to 7 p.c. Thus the return offered is exceptionally high. This important company, with its shipbuilding yards at Belfast and Glasgow, and its repairing establishments at London, Liverpool and Southampton, has played a notable part in the expansion of the Navy during the war years, as well as in the provision of guns and other munitions. It has to be seen, however, whether it can make good in peace-time. At the annual meeting, the chairman was optimistic, declaring that they faced the future with confidence, the company being well placed to procure an adequate share of the new construction in view. The financial position of the company was reconstituted in 1937, and to-day its capital consists of £2,600,000 of 4½ p.c. Pref. stock and £4,396,082 in £1 Ord. stock.

Wall Street Gains

NEW YORK, Saturday.—Stock prices were generally higher at Saturday's opening and trading was moderately active. The market encountered some selling during the morning although Assorted Industrials established new high levels with gains of fractions to more than three points. Rails were slightly indifferent, but Utilities were active following a single transaction in Commonwealth and Southern Corporation of 100,000 shares Motor and Amusement Issues attracted purchasers. Wall street is rather gloomy regarding the spreading of the strikes, but it was argued that, if the wage increase demand is granted, prices consequently must rise. Comfort was also derived from a report that the Office of Price Administration has added a number of building materials, machinery and metal items to reconversion products on which ceilings may be raised. The close was firm. The turnover of 950,000 shares comprised 818 issues, of which 446 advanced, 166 declined and 206 remained unchanged.

Irish Turkeys for Britain

In the Manchester Provision Market area last week allocations of eggs were rather lower on the reduced production of Irish and English. Moderate consignments of dead poultry from Eire and Northern Ireland sold readily at maximum control prices. Turkeys were quoted at 2/9, fowls, chickens, ducks, geese 1/9, rabbits 11½d. per lb., all wholesale.

It has been announced that 800,000 turkeys will be sent to Britain from Eire a few weeks before Christmas, and as there are more turkeys in Eire than a year ago this figure may be exceeded. BRITISH ENDURANCE AND UNITY

While in Britain they would always be proud of their resistance to tyranny and of their endurance and unity, still they should always be ashamed of the indolence and cowardice which had allowed the weed of tyranny to grow, and of the methods such as the atomic bomb or the thousand bomber raids which they had been forced to use, the Rev. R. Allen, M.C., M.A., General Secretary of the Committee for Christian Reconstruction in Europe, said yesterday, when preaching at the annual Harvest Festival in Christ Church Cathedral.

No longer were retreating armies, he said, scorching the earth behind them; no longer are the trawlers being turned into mine-sweepers, the merchantmen becoming prey to the U-boats, or the youth of the world being compelled to devote their skill, daring, energy and self-sacrifice to forging the many weapons of destruction. In many parts of Europe no harvest can be gathered, possibly because it has not been sown or because there is no labour and no tools. Once again our people, even all humanity, is faced with the alternative—either with Christ upwards to a higher future, or without and ever against Christ downwards to utter collapse."

CARL HARDEBECK FUND CONCERT

Carl Hardebeck was a man who abominated sham and insincerity and had a deep regard for truth and directness that almost amounted to a passion, said Mr. James J. Campbell, hon. treasurer of the Hardebeck fund, when he gave a talk on the composer at a concert in aid of the fund at the Father Mathew Hall, Dublin, last night.

Della Murphy, who, it was stated, was giving her last performance in Dublin before returning to Rome, was the big attraction on the concert programme. She delighted a crowded house with all those songs which she has now made so well known. Also appearing was Val Vousden, who contributed a number of sketches; Michael O'Higgins, baritone; Clyde Twelvetrees, 'cellist; Betty Nugent, a Belfast singer; Mollie Flynn, flautist, and the following harpists:—Niamh ní Sheaghdha, Mairin ní Chathain, Mairin ní hAnnrachain and Caitlin ní Chochain.

Summer Time Protest

A protest against the continuance of "Summer Time" in the licensed houses has been sent to the Minister for Justice, Mr. G. Boland, by Mr. W. H. Beirne, General Secretary of the Grocers Assistants' Union. In his letter Mr. O'Beirne states that his executive committee direct him to refer to the Intoxicating Liquor Act, 1942, which provides that licensed houses may open between the hours of 10.30 a.m. and 10.30 p.m. during a period of summer time, and between the hours of 10.30 a.m. and 10 p.m. during any period which is not a period of summer time.

It is stated by Mr. Beirne, that the decision of the Government to continue summer time during the coming winter means that the licensed house will remain open until 10.30 p.m. instead of closing at 10 p.m. His executive committee, he states, considers that this inflicts a grave hardship on their members, and is unnecessary under present conditions.

Return Tickets Again

Another step towards the return to normal travelling conditions on the C.I.E. railway system is the restoration, as from to-day, of the return ticket. The issue of return tickets was discontinued early last year, following a serious crisis in supplies of fuel, which obliged the company to reduce services to the level of two trains a week in each direction. Since then, a slight increase in the quota of coal has brought about an improvement. Services now operate on six days a week, and commercial travellers, business people and the general public can travel with far greater convenience and comfort than they did last winter.

WORLD T.U.C.

Federation Agreement Reached

AGREEMENT on the major issues relating to the formation of the new world federation of trade unions has been reached in Paris by the "big four" of the conference, says a Paris (Reuter) report. The agreement was representative of the British, Soviet, United States and French unions. A constitutional committee has been set up to complete the ranks of the proposed world confederation.

The agreement closes the ranks of Labour after a week of controversy in which the British and Soviet delegations have healed opposing groups. The statements of M. Kuznetzov (Russia) are interpreted as indicating the following concessions to the British point of view: That international trade secretariats of miners, transport workers and others should be given time to discuss their incorporation within the structure of the new organisation; that fair provision should be made for the future of the staff of the old International Federation of Trades Unions, whether they form part of the new organisation or not; and that the Russian trade union secretariats of miners and others should become affiliated to the new international trade secretariats in time.

SOVIET VIEW

M. Kuznetzov at his Press conference indicated that he differed from the British viewpoint that certain aspects of the new world trade union body should be postponed. "The Soviet delegation strongly believes in the immediate formation of the new organisation," he said. He took a very conciliatory line towards a number of questions on which the British and Soviet viewpoints are known to differ. "The Trade Union Federation must be first of all a trade union organisation," he said, "but it is sometimes difficult to draw the line between political and economic questions."

President Truman has obtained the agreement of the American labour organisations, including both the American Federation of Labour and the Congress of Industrial Organisations for joint representation at the International Labour Office Conference opening in Paris on October 15th. This will be the first time for many years that both the American Federation of Labour and the C.I.O. have been able to agree on joint representation. The United States Government, it is stated, will be represented at the I.L.O. meeting by Miss Frances Perkins, former Secretary for Labour, and Senator Elbert D. Thomas, Salt Lake City.

More Marriages In Ireland

Official statistics just issued show that the marriage rate in the twenty-six counties is rising steadily. The number registered for the second quarter of 1945—4,628—is the highest for the corresponding period as far back as 1940. It is also greater than the number registered in the first quarter of the period 1940-45, inclusive. Births for the second quarter of 1945—17,892—are also greater than for the corresponding period since 1940, with the exception of 1942, when 18,181 were registered.

The number of deaths from all forms of tuberculosis during the second quarter of this year was the lowest since 1941, and the number of deaths from influenza for the first six months of the year the lowest since 1940. Three cases of infantile paralysis were notified during the week ended September 22nd, 1945—two in Dublin City and one in Cork County Borough.

WOMAN TELLS OF QUEUE FOR CREMATORIUM

ANITA LASKER, a 20-year-old German Jewess from Breslau, told the Belsen Court yesterday that a camp orchestra, in which she was a performer, had to play at Auschwitz camp gates as transports arrived with prisoners destined for the gas chamber. She said that so many people were coming to the camp that nearly every day and night there was a queue for the crematorium.

When the British were nearing Belsen S.S. men at the camp put on Red Cross armlets, and Irma Grese (one of the accused persons) told prisoners that they would soon be liberated, she added.

Roman Sompolinski, a Polish youth, said that Ladislaw Gura, one of the accused persons, "killed Belsen internees at the rate of 20 an hour with the butt of his rifle."

Earlier in yesterday's proceedings Charles Bendel, a Paris doctor, interned at Auschwitz, said that he had to assist the chief camp S.S. doctor, Mengele, who specialised in making injections which produced instant death. "Dr. Mengele spent a great deal of time in the camp of 11,000 gipsies, experimenting in gynæcology," Dr. Bendel said. "He wanted to discover a formula for the guaranteed conception of twins."

Dr. Bendel said that he was attached to the crematorium "day shift" in August, 1944. During his first day on duty he saw white smoke rising from three trenches, about 12 yards long and six yards wide. "In the crematorium the work was not quick enough, so they devised this system of trenches for burning bodies," he said. "The capacity of these trenches was almost fantastic. In crematorium number four, for example, 1,000 people were burned each day. With this system of trenches they were able to deal with 1,000 an hour."

On his first day at the crematorium, 80,000 Jews from the Ghetto, in Lodz were burned, he added.—(Reuter)

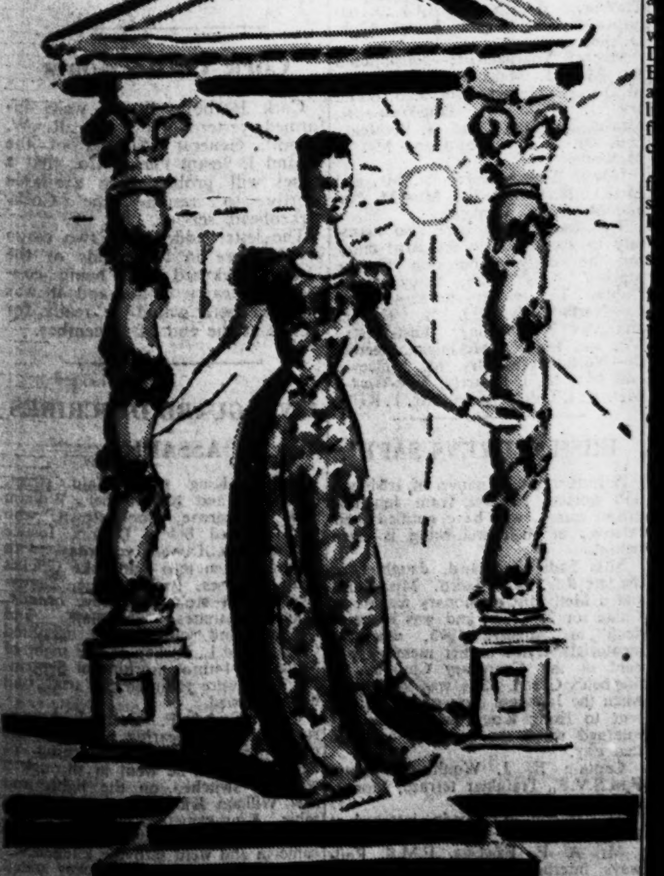

Allies Refuse Indonesian [illegible]

A BRITISH Staff officer, acting on behalf of Rear-Admiral Patterson (Lord Mountbatten's representative in Batavia), has visited Dr. Soekarno, the Indonesian Nationalist leader in Java, and informed him that the Allied military authorities cannot recognise his "Indonesian Republic."

At the same time, says Reuter, he promised the Indonesian leaders unrestricted freedom of movement if they would co-operate in keeping law and order. The conversations were described as cordial and friendly.

The Dutch Government has refused to negotiate with Dr. Soekarno, who said in an interview yesterday that he hopes for U.S. recognition for his Government and "will welcome American business to the island."

The confused internal situation seems partially to have cleared, says Reuter's Batavia Correspondent. The Allied occupation force, which began taking over Batavia yesterday, has been peacefully received. Civil affairs in Java

FASHION WEEK

The theme is the softer trend . . . fashion is to forsake the rigorous straight line of emergency for clothes more gracious, womanly—of a softer line. There is the motif . . . around which the new season will weave many fascinating variations.
